What They Will Pay.

If the income tax bill is signed by President Cleveland it will have some but very little effect on the salaries of the state officials of Pennsylvania. No official salaries are exempt, and they are not only not exempt; but if the salary is included as part of the amount to make up an official's income if the income is over $4,000, it is therefore taxable. Governor Pattison's salary is $10,000 and he will be taxed two per cent. on $6,000 or $120. Lieutenant Governor Waters has a salary of $5,000 a year, and he will pay two per cent. on $1,000 or $30. Secretary Harrity gets a salary of $4,000 per year, but his fees run this up to about $15,000 per year, added to which is his salary of $10,000 as president of a Philadelphia bank, or $25,000 altogether, on $21,000 of which he will pay tax, amounting to $420. Attorney General Hensel gets a salary of $3,500 per year, but his fees lift him to $11.000 and he will pay two per cent. tax on $7,000 or $140. State Treasurer Jackson enjoys a salary of $5,000 and will pay $20 tax. The chief justice of the supreme courts gets $8,500 salary, and will be taxed on $4,500 of it, or $90, and the supreme court justices who get but $8,000 will pay $80 each to the government. The judges in Philadelphia will pay $60 and Allegheny $40. The insurance commissioner, who has a fat thing of it in the way of fees, will pay tax on about $5,000 over the exempted amount, or $100. And yet you don't hear of anybody going to resign because of the income tax, and no one will refuse office because of it.

Literary Note From the Century Co.

The publishers of The Century have had Corsica thoroughly searched for material relating to Napoleon, to be used in connection with the new life of the great commander. The result of this activity is that much has been discovered that has never heretofore been published. One interesting find is a picture of Napoleon's mother, which, although it has always hung in the house in which the Emperor was born, at Ajaccio, will now for the first time be engraved. There has also been secured a portrait of Mlle. Caroline du Colombier, generally reputed to be Napoleon's first love. During his early years Napoleon was remarkably diffident and bashful and was rarely at ease in the presence of women. But while residing at Valence he enjoyed much of the society of Mlle. du Colombier, despite the care with which French girls were then, as now guarded. One day Napoleon made an engagement to meet the young lady at an early hour the next morning in the garden. He was expected to declare his passion, but his diffidence still held sway, and the young people contented themselves with eating cherries. But if Napoleon's boyish love came to nothing, he never forgot Mlle. du Colombier. On the way to the coronation at Milan, she was the first woman presented to him at Lyons, and she then obtained from Napoleon a post for her husband, Garampel de Bressieux, and a lieutenancy for her brother. In 1808 she was made a companion to Napoleon's mother, and her husband was created a Baron of the Empire. The Century' picture is from the first and only photograph ever taken from a family portrait of the lady.

The suffering from the prevailing drought in Eastern Pennsylvania is not nearly so severe as it is in the western part of the State. In that section streams that have been noted for their abundant supply of water are drying up, springs have become simple mud holes, while heretofore unfailing wells are totally empty of water. Everywhere through the western counties the grass and shrubbery has a brown and rusty look, and the worst feature of it all is that there are as yet no indications of a protracted wet spell to relieve the widespread desolation. The gentle August rains which brought some refreshing in the east and much more further west have done little or nothing thus far for the parched fields of Western Pennsylvania.

A Good Thing Out of Nazareth.

Colorado, with its Governor who volunteered to ride in blood bridle-deep if Congress ventured to differ with him as to the rate and ratio of silver coinage, is not just the place from which to expect an appeal to the law-abiding patriotism of the American people, or any part of them. Nevertheless, Commander Rollins, of the Colorado and Wyoming department, has issued a circular address which is full of sound patriotism, worth reading in any Grand Army post and in any gathering of good citizens. He cites the events of the past year during which large bodies of men, suffering under a sense of real or fancied wrongs, instead of seeking redress through the legal and constituted channels—the courts if laws were adequate, or by legislation if they were inadequate—have undertaken to correct the wrongs of which they complained by violence, by the destruction of property and in some instances of human life.

He congratulates the comrades of the Grand Army that their badge and button have been conspicuously absent from all these recent disturbances, for he says, "this is rebellion, differing only in degree from that which came so near effecting the destruction of all government of the people by the people and for the people, upon this continent, and from which you and your comrades, by the tender and in so many cases by the sacrifice of life, saved the nation 20 years ago."

He reminds them that no man can be loyal to his government and yet look with indifference upon the open violation of its laws, for "anarchy cannot exist in equal rank, side by side in the same heart, with loyality, in the same society or the same State. It is only by being loyal to your government when its laws, its citizens, or its rights are assailed, that you can in the true sense be loyal to each other."

Yet why is not Colorado the very State from which to expect such an address as this? The people who have gone farthest in experience with the Populist experiment of government by a mobocracy are naturally the foremost in finding their way back to the ancient landmarks of the republic.

Suggests Building Reservoirs.

A correspondent of the Renovo News makes the following suggestion as a protection against floods in the West Branch valley: One method to retard the greater volume of rainfall reaching the lower levels might be effected by the building of many low dams roughly, not to exceed thirty feet in height, and not to build at the head of streams where basis of fifty to 500 acres might be found available. Quite a number of such sites have been observed in the counties of Sullivan, Wyoming, Bradford, Tioga, Potter, Clinton, Lycoming, Elk, Clearfield, etc. They would be much safer for storage basins than one or two large reservoirs, could such be found of sufficient capacity, as these many small dams distributed over the long outer rim of the rainfall basin would hold a portion back at the head or along each stream and could be cheaply and securely constructed of the rock material immediately at hand puddled with clay in the bottoms and left open towards the top, to allow a portion of flow to go through and over.

THE seventh annual convention of the Republican League of this date will be held at Harrisburg September 5th, and promises to be one of the largest and most enthusiastic gatherings of the kind ever held. President Robinson is hopeful of securing ex-Speaker Reed as the star speaker, and if success crowns his efforts there will be no building in Harrisburg large enough to hold the crowd that will want to hear him. An effort was made also to secure Governor McKinley, but that distinguished gentleman will be in New York at the time attending a similar meeting. In addition to Mr. Reed there will be other statesmen of national reputation present. This convention will fire the opening gun of the gubernatorial campaign, and General Hastings will be there to deliver his first speech. It is hoped that every republican club in the state will send delegates and thus manifest an interest in the great questions at issue. The condition to which the country has been reduced by Democratic misrule has aroused more than ordinary interest in Republican gatherings, and for this reason an almost complete representation is expected.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

Washington, August 20, 1894.

From Our Regular Correspondent.)

Mr. Cleveland was figuratively given a slap in the face when the Senate adopted the resolution offered by Murphy, of New York, declaring it to be the sense of the Senate that no further tariff legislation should be considered at this session, and that it was advisable to adjourn at the earliest possible moment, and the free traders of the House are accusing the democratic steering committee of the Senate of having buncoed them by making promises concerning the passage of the popgun tariff bills which the adoption of this resolution makes it impossible for them to carry out. All of the republicans present, Peffer, Kyle and Stuart, and the following democrats voted for the Murphy resolution: Blanchard and Caffery, of Louisiana, Gibson and Gorman, of Maryland; Murphy of New York; Roach of N. Dakota and Smith of New Jersey.

Senator Sherman took the floor after the adoption of the Murphy resolution to make a few remarks, which he correctly characterized as "plaintalk." He told the democrats of their numerous blunders which included from 50 to 100 important errors in the tariff bill, now in the hands of Mr. Cleveland, one of which—that for the free entry of alcohol used in the arts—would if uncorrected, cost the government from twenty to thirty millions of dollars in lost revenue annually. He also had a sharp word or two to say about the unusual extent to which the encroachments of the executive upon the legislative branches of the government had been pushed during the present session of Congress, and in conclusion expressed his belief that the best thing to be done was to go home and await the verdict of the voters before further meddling with the tariff. To show that he was in earnest Mr. Sherman has himself gone home not to return until the opening of the next session of Congress.

While it is generally regarded as certain that Mr. Cleveland is going to swallow his big dish of crow and allow the Senate tariff bill, which he so roundly abused in the wilson letter, to become a law, either with or without his signature, there are men—prominent men, too—who believe that he is still in doubt, and that his present visit to Buzzards Bay was not because of his illness, but because he could better hold secret conferences there with certain individuals than he could at the White House, and that those conferences will settle whether the bill shall be allowed to become a law or to be vetoed. These men say further that Secretary Carlisle is fully committed to the Senate bill and has been ever since he wrote its sugar schedule, and that his actions, in sending copies of the bill to all collectors of customs and otherwise preparing to execute the provisions of the new law, is merely a shrewd move to allow the public to suppose that the administration accepts the bill and thus to aid in coercing Mr. Cleveland into allowing it to become a law.

Congress can do nothing more for lack of a quorum in both branches, but it will be kept in session until next Monday, unless Mr. Cleveland acts upon the tariff bill before then, and it may even then have trouble to adjourn if some member takes a notion to raise the point of "no quorum" when the motion is made. However, it is probable that enough of the members might be got to return for the purpose of making a quorum to adjourn when it can be done without jeopardizing the tariff bill.

"Nothing but the need of the $8.000 a year which the position pays keeps Secretary Carlisle in the Cabinet." This assertion was made by a personal friend of Secretary Carlisle's—a Kentuckian—and it is not surprising to those who know anything about the inside history of this administration. Mr. Carlisle has known for sometime that the failure of the financial policy, or rather the entire lack of financial policy, of the administration has killed his political future, and he feels doubly sore because he has not been allowed to be more than a clerk to Mr. C.

He thinks that things would have been better had he been allowed to control affairs connected with his department, as he expected he would be when he left the Senate, where he could have remained as long as Kentucky could elect a democratic legislature, to enter the cabinet. He has been disposed to rebel for some time, and his letter against the pop-gun tariff bills for which Mr. Cleveland was largely responsible, barring the free sugar bill, which he did not want, was sent to Senator Harris without Mr. Cleveland's knowledge' and with the special intention of blocking Mr. Cleveland's efforts to help the Whitney coal syndicate and the Carnegie Iron Ore Syndicate, and at the same time to help the sugar trust, which may furnish a salary for Mr. Carlisle when he eventually has to leave the Cabinet.

—A glass of home made ginger beer, with a lump of ice in it, is always a pleasant drink on a hot day. Take a deep earthenware kettle for the making of the beer. Slice four lemons, place them in the kettle, add a pound and a half of loaf sugar, and one and a half ounces of root ginger, slightly bruised. Pour over these ingredients two gallons of boiling water, and when nearly cold pour in a dessert spoonful of fresh brewers' yeast. Cover this with a thin cloth and let the mixture stand for 24 hours. Strain and bottle it and place in a cool cellar.

Good Roads Agitation.

COXEY is not the only good road agitator. Better roads have become a popular fad, good roads conventions are popular assemblies, and good roads literature is being issued in every form, from newspaper editorials and magazine articles to handsomely bound printed volumes.

The trouble with the good roads campaign is that it has not advanced much beyond the literature and convention stage. The roads remain as impassable as ever, and those who drive over them would willingly get along with less literature on the subject if signs of practical improvement to the roads were multiplying. A few miles of experimental highways have been constructed under the New Jersey road law, a little good road building has been done in Montgomery county of this State, and the town of Canadaigus, New York, has constructed a few miles of stone road which may be truthfully called good. With these few exceptions the roads of the Northern States do not show much signs of improvement as a result of all the recent agitation.

While there is room for honest difference of opinion as to the methods of road building, the greatest obstacle to improvement in this direction is the stubborn and discouraging fact that good roads cost money. Farmers shy at increased taxes for road purposes and usually manage to defeat any effective legislation looking to a better road system. A small road tax is levied every year, which may be paid in money or work at the option of the taxpayer, and this is expended in repairing [illegible] ways which are always just as bad after the fall and spring wet weather as before the repairs were made. The aggregate of money expended on the older highways of the country would have provided permanent roads long ago if wisely expended under competent direction at any one time, but having been expended in annual driblets, with no intelligent foresight, the money has been as good as thrown away.

It is evident that the only two practical form of road agitation must be in the direction of specimen section of road in as many localities as possible and the education of the tax-payers to the economy of better roads. A specimen mile of good road in every township would result eventually in universally good roads, for the specimen mile would prove a convincing educator. Pennsylvania has for seventy-five years possessed a thirty-mile stretch of the best country road in the United States extending along the west bank of the Delaware from Bushkill to a point opposite Port Jevis, N. Y., but this has failed as an educator in the science of good roads because located in a remote and thinly populated section of the State. The construction of a short section of such road in every township would long ago have revolutionized the entire road system of the State.

If the good road reformers will construct specimen good roads in the sections in which they reside, the good roads revolution will be given an immediate and irresistible impetus. It is not more good roads agitation that is needed but more good roads.

BARRY CLABAUGH ARRESTED.

Charged with Making False Entries in the General Ledger of the Second National Bank.

Yesterday morning Chief Bank Examiner George M. Coffin went before United States Commissioner H. Price Graffius and made information against Harry Clabaugh, a former clerk in the Second National bank, charging that "on Feb. 14 H. L. Clabaugh, an officer or clerk, in the Second National bank of Altoona, Pa., in violation of section 5,209 of the revised statutes of the United States, did unlawfully make certain false entries in the book known as the general ledger in the accounts of individual depositors shown on said book, and no other dates before and after Jan. 14, 1894, with intent to deceive the examiner appointed to examine the affairs of the bank," In the information W. L. Kennedy and W. H. Allen are named as material witnesses.

Mr. Clabangh was notified that he was to be arrested and immediately went before Commissioner Graffius and gave himself up. Bail was fixed at $3,000 and Mr. P. H. Walls went on his bond for that amount. Mr. Clabaugh has retained Attorneys M. Alexander and E. M. Amies as his counsel. He will have a hearing next Friday morning.

Maybury Miller, who was arrested on a similar charge as Mr. Clabaugh on Tuesday night, secured bail yesterday morning as was announced in THE TIMES that he would. His bail was reduced to $3,000. Messrs. John London, P. H. Walls, W. B. Hicks and A. M. Stewart and others are his bondsmen. At the hearing before Commissioner Graffius Friday morning he will be represented by Attorneys N. P. Mervine and W. M. Hammond.

Examiners Coffin and Henlein, and John Lloyd were at work on the books yesterday, and spent the entire day at the bank. Mr. Lloyd had thought to be relieved when the transfer of the bank was made, but the examiner insisted on his being present to verify their work.

About the only new thing in connection with the Second National bank was the receipt of the following telegram yesterday at the mayor's office:

PITTSBURG, Aug. 21, 1894.

"To J. N. Tillard, Chief of Police, Altoona, Pa.

'Gardner was here this morning. Shall we arrest if located?

"GILKINSON AMERICAN DETECTIVE BUREAU."

Commissioner Graffius was shown the message and he immediately telegraphed the detective agency to have the defaulting cashier arrested if he could be found. Up until 3 o'clock this morning, no word has been received by the authorities as to whether or not Gardner had been captured. This is most likely another hoax.—Altoona Times.

More Leaky Jails.

Jail-breaking has become as fashionable in Pennsylvania as taking a summer vacation, and as easy as rolling off a log. When the jailer is not hand in glove with the convicts and the latter are not officiating as assistant jailers, the jail floors are made of pine boards which a schoolboy's jackknife will perforate, and a jail hog pen on one side and a convenient tree on the other side of the jail well afford the means of successful escape.

The latest leaky jail is that of Chambersburg, from which seven prisoners escaped in a body on Sunday night by cutting a hole in the jail floor and scaling a very easy jail wall. The only apparent reason why the other inmates failed to escape is that they were not taken into the plot. The jail officials do not seem to have constituted an obstacle to the escape of anybody.

The NEWS has turned the light on three county jails out of which prisoners have leaked as easily as water through a seive and is ready to tell the truth about the mismanagement of any others that need exposure. In advance of any more startling jail deliveries it modestly suggests the propriety of a general removal of hog pens located against jail walls and the cutting down of trees whose limbs are within convenient reach of the top of jail enclosures. If to these simple precautions efficient, honest and watchful jail officials could be added there would probably be a decline in the number of jail deliveries.

The State Troops.

Adjutant General Greenland at Harrisburg on Monday stated that the militiamen will be paid for their services at the encampment at Gettysburg as soon as the pay rolls have been received at his department and approved. The Harrisburg Patriot says: Governor Pattison and Adjutant General Greenland disclaim all blame on the part of the national guard authorities for the delay in shipping the troops from Gettysburg. Concerning the complaint of rations, Adjutant General Greenland says Colonel Curtin took extra pains to visit the brigades to ascertain whether they had sufficient food supply and was assured that all were satisfied, and especially was this so in his report on the first brigade. The matter will not be allowed to rest until the real offenders are personally brought to light.

Pools of Stagnant Air.

Have you ever considered the state of the air in your bed room? The following from the New Yor Times is well worth a second thought:

It has been proven by actual experiment that a layer of air lies against the walls, which is subject to very little circulation in the middle of the room. It is therefore important that a bed should not be placed close to the wall. If kept there during the daytime, it should be moved at least several inches out into the room at night. Alcoves and curtains should be avoided. In an alcove enclosed on three sides a lake of air forms, which may be compared to the stagnant pools often observed along the margins of rivers. A few yards away a rushing tide may be moving swiftly along, but these placid pools are unruffled by the current.

While placing the bed, especially the head of it, where it will be shielded from the strongest draught, there should still be enough motion to the air in that vicinity to insure fresh supplies constantly throughout the night. The prevailing appetite for breakfast, as well as many cases of anæmia and worse diseases, are due to the breathing over and over again of the same air in restricted bedrooms, where beds are too often placed in alcoves or are shielded by curtains, which are too seldom shaken out in the fresh air.

An Imposing Street Display.

DuBois, Aug. 21.—The Central District Firemens association met at DuBois to-day. The parade was a grand one. Fully seven hundred men were in line, made up of twenty-two fire companies and their apparatus, twelve bands, the Darktown fire brigade, of Williamsport, town councils of this and other towns. Twenty-two coaches brought 1,500 people over the Clearfield and Mahoning railroad from Clearfield, Philipsburg, Houtzdale and vicinity. Forty-seven filled to overflowing coaches arrived over the Buffalo, Rochester and Pittsburg from Bradford and the north. The other railroads also brought great crowds.

Ten thousand people passed the gates at the fair grounds to witness the various contests. The Clearfield band secured the first prize in the band contest. The Johnsonburg Centrals won the free for all hose contest, prize $50. Houtzdale No. 1 Hose Company won the drill contest, prize $15. Philipsburg Hope hose the best uniformed company, prize, $25. Tyrone Citizens steamer contest, prize $35. Curwensville Hook and Ladder company, largest company, prize, $35. Many other prizes were given for minor contests. The association will meet at Bellefonte next year.

These tickets will be valid for return passage until September 25 inclusive.

Detailed information in regard to rates, stop-over privileges, side-trip excursion tickets, &c., can be obtained upon application at ticket offices.

Pennsylvania Railroad Not to Blame

Philadelphia, Aug. 21.—A prominent Pennsylvania railroad official, speaking to-day of the reported delay in moving troops from the Gettysburg encampment said no blame attached to the Pennsylvania railryad for any delay in getting the soldiers home promptly. The Pennsylvania has no line of its own into Gettysburg. The point of delivery and receipt of the troops to and from the Pennsylvania railroad was Hanover for those from the east and Harrisburg from the north and west. An ample number of cars was furnished and delivered at the proper time, but the Pennsylvania railroad had no control over their movement, either in or out of Gettysburg. After the cars were delivered by connecting lines they were forwarded with all possible dispatch to their destination.

FASHIONS AT NEWPORT.

Thin Dresses: Ribbon Garnitures: Colors: New Waists: Bathing-Suits: Styles for Yatching.

Material now gives place to ornamentation in muslin, batiste or organdy dresses, a second glance being always bestowed upon the corsage, where almost all trimming is now centred; and although the sea-shore is scarcely the locality where one might expect a predominance of these light fabrics; yet for midday or early afternoon costumes, nothing else is in such general favor. The attractive simplicity of the single skirt is not absolutely marred by two or three ruffles or a circular flounce, but the patent point is the ribbon trimmed waist—whether there is a single strap on each shoulder, just on the sleeve seam, or five, six or seven straps diverging from the collar, each finished off by artistic loops or knots without ends. With more than two straps, the usual foundation is a lace cape, or a deep lace ruffle attached to the collar, then again in direct contrast, is a ribbon bow perched on each shoulder and a third in front, about on a line with the ends of those on the shoulders.

WHITE SATIN RIBBON

s effectively used on all light colors, and as a matter of course, collars and belts are in exact harmony. Two ribbon straps passing over the shoulders (sometimes with the addition of shoulder knots) and reaching the belt about four inches apart, with a crosswise strap at the bust, a second one a little lower down, and two long ends at front and back hanging nearly to the hem of the skirt, is called a "ribbon harness;" a charming accessory for young girls. Not infrequent, where wide lace is draped around the shoulders, somewhat similar to a round yoke, ribbon is used as a heading knotted at intervals of a few inches. Color combinations show a marked partiality for pink or black, rose pink with a lighter shade, a touch of black with anything, green and heliotrope, blue in pale hues, blue and navy, a great deal of yellow, lavender, crimson and many golden brown tints lend their varied shades in either flowers, ribbons or materials.

ONLY A FEW SLASHED WAISTS

are been as yet, and those are either slashed from the yoke to the belt at front, or the yoke may be slashed with the lower part plain, or three plaits from collar to belt is a third design, but always, the spaces are filled with accordion-plaited chiffon or silk muslin over colored linings. Slashings vary in with, and when about an inch, jet spangles are a very handsome edging.

STRIPED BLUE AND BROWN BATHING SUITS

are somewhat conspicuous, the stripes arranged in points at back and front, with a yoke of lengthwise stripes, and as these are worn by very young people, short sleeves are much in favor. Crimson or white revers invest the conventional blue flannel with some degree of novelty; or anchors embroidered in white or dark blue or crimson, savor of yatching, but one luxury supplements another, when after a dash in the surf, free use is made of that most delightful of toilet waters, Murray & Lanman's Florida water.

A VARIETY OF MATERIALS

are at the disposal of those fond of yachting brown or white linens, duck, pique, white crimson or navy blue serge, and although jacket suits are still worn, round waists and blouses are newer and consequently more stylish. A red serge faced with white, high vest and broad white revers, round, jacket front waist, linen shirt front, tie and crimson cap, is very dashing for any one to whom crimson is becoming. Yatching caps are quite as stylish as sailor hats, at the same time more trying.

VERONA CLARK.

An Important Report.

The department of internal affairs has prepared a special report from the records of twenty-one representative counties which show with much certainty the per centage which assessed valuation bears to actual valuation of real estate in the state. The report should be of great aid to the next legislature in framing a tax bill which will bear equitably on corporations and the owners of real estate. For the purpose of making the report as accurate as possible competent men were sent into the counties and taking the selling and buying price of land as the best basis obtainable, compared those figures with the assessed valuations. Some startling results were secured. The report says that the law requiring the assessors to fix the assessment of property with reference to its actual value is a dead letter, and that the rates of assessment are eighty per cent. below the actual valuation. Many disparities are found to exist in the same assessment district. A property worth $10,000 is assessed at $3,000, while in another district of the same county a property worth $10,000 is assessed for $4,000. One man is required to pay twice as much tax as another.

Pennsylvania Reserves.

The survivors of the Pennsylvania Reserves will hold a Re-union at Pittsburg, September 11th to 13th. Headquarters will be established at the Monongahela House.

A local committee of the comrades residing in Allegheny county and vicinity has been organized and will have charge of perfecting all arrangements with a view of making the visit pleasant and one long to be remembered by all participants. It is hoped thal all who can will avail themselves of the low rates, as this mav be our last opportunity to meet many of our comrades whom we have not met since our return from the war.

Comrade W. S. Caldwell, 277 Allegheny Avenue, Allegheny, Pa., Corresponding Secretary of the local committee, will gladly furnish information that comrades may desire, relative to hotel accommodations, rates of fare, &c, Go Slow.

Persons having claims against their fellow men should be slow, at this time, to press them for collection. The person who has a claim, if it be large, against another, who will have to sell an enormous amount of property at present prices in order to satisfy the claim. There can be but one excuse for issuing an execution against a debtor at this time, and that time, and that is, if the debtor should show a disposition to cheat the one he owes. Let those who are disposed to place writs in the hands of the proper officials ponder on the above a little before taking an action which will cause their fellow being so much loss.

Effects of Brooks Law.

At the last session of the legislature a committee was appointed to investigate the moral effects of the Brooks high license law. Senator Grady, of Philadelphia, chairman of the committee, will shortly call the committee together and a searching inquiry will be made on this important matter. His colleagues on the committee are Senators Lyon, Allegheny; Herring, Columbia; Thomas, Philadelphia, and Mitchell, Bradford. The examination of the increase or decrease of pauperism, crime and insanity arising from the use of liquor since the passage of the Brooks law is the duty of this committee.

Can the Forests be Regrown?

The Driftwood Gazette states that two expert arborists from Boston, Mass., are out in the wilds of that vicinity investigating and experimenting as to the practicability of planting the seed of the white pine. This scheme has been given careful attention and research of late, and would prove a grand thing if the large area of land in this section of the state now denuded of timber, could be replanted and made to yield a fine growth of pine again within the years necessary to make it a paying investment. The experiments of these two gentlemen will be watched with much interest.

State Senators in Clover.

Nothing is too good for our state senators and that taxpayer, who are now howling about hard times and increasing taxes will be pleased to know that these law makers are to have a $12,550 invatory and toilet room, with Russian and Turkish baths equipped with Italian, Geneva white and pink Tennessee marbles, Mosaic tiling, beveledge French plate glass mirrors, porcelain closets, with polished brass fittings, electro-bronzed stairway, mahogany doors, and the like. The work must be completed by December 1, under penalty of a daily forfeiture of $50.

The Largest Bible.

The largest Bible in the world is in the Vatican. It is a manuscript Bible, and written in Hebrew. The book weighs 320 pounds, and there is a history connected with it. Some Italian Jews obtained a view of the precious volume, and told their co-religionists of Venice of it. The consequence was that a syndicate of Venetian Jews endeavored to purchase it, offering the Pope the weight of the book in gold as the price. Pope Julius II., however, refused the offer. At the present price of gold the offer was one of no less than $360,000. This is the largest price ever known to have been offered for a book.

A Six-Legged Frog.

Williamsport Times: A six-legged frog is curiosity that is exceedingly rare. Friday of last week, a man named Whipple, of DuBoistown, captured one on the banks of Lycoming creek, and it is now in a glass vessel in the Delmonico hotel. It has two fore legs, and the other four are at the rear of the frog's body. Not any one is of the same thickness, but they are all-sized legs, and the frog has perfect control of them. It can kick with one, two, three or four legs at the same time, but uses the first and third legs the most. It is a curiosity and many persons have looked at it.

—Clement Dale, Esq., has taken to gardening for pleasure and exercise. He already has some twelve hundred celery plants under a good state of cultivation and he is now at work on preparing plots for raspberries, blackberries and strawberries. If Clem has as good success at gardening as he has at law practice his garden next year will be worthwhile visiting.

DEATH POTIONS FOR FOUR.

Being Detected in the Horrible Crime Mrs. Julia Butler Ended Her Own Life.

Hamburg, Mich., Aug. 19.—After taking the lives of her father, and mother and husband by poison, and bringing Harry Whitlock, a hired man, to his death, Mrs. Julia Butler, aged 45, who lives near this city, has ended her career of murder by committing suicide. Dr. Elias Smith, the family physician, is very ill from the effects of eating food at the woman's house.

Mrs. Butler's father was a hard-working farmer. He had heart trouble, but died from cramps after several months' illness, during which time his hands and feet became numb and useless. The mother's death was also attributed to cramps and was expected.

Two and a half years ago the woman's husband, Charles Butler, was taken ill. During the visits of the physician he was invited to dine. Dr. Smith says he was invariably ill after the meals, but suspected nothing more than indigestion. Mr. Butler died.

About July 1 Harry Whitlock, who had taken the farm on shares, boarding at Mrs. Butler's home, was taken ill. Dr. Smith treated him, ascribing his illness to milk poison or tyrotoxicon. The physician tasted the food prepared by Mrs. Butler and was taken violently ill, the symptoms being burning at the stomach and vomiting.

Dr. Smith then took away with him some of the food prepared, telling the woman she was suspected of having poisoned the man. The food was sent to Ann Arbor, where a chemical analysis showed the presence of strychnine and arsenic.

Meantime Mrs. Butler attempted suicide by taking laudanum. Failing in her purpose, another poison was brought into play, which ended her life. Just before her death the woman practically admitted her guilt to Dr. Smith. Whitlock is living, but his hands and feet are useless and his health is broken.

The woman was a neighbor of ex-Governor Winans, who died of heart failure some weeks ago. It was charged that Mrs. Butler sent him food and that his death was directly attributable to her, but Dr. Smith denies this.

A Rich Man's Money.

A difference of opinion has developed between Mr. James Roosevelt Roosevelt, First Secretary of the United States Embassy of London, and Judge Barrett, of the Supreme Court of New York, as to the proper allowance to be made for the care and maintenance of two minor children—a boy of 15 and a girl of 13 years. In 1878, Mr. Roosevelt Roosevelt married Helen Astor, daughter of William Astor. Her father left her funds bringing in an income of $80,000 per year, which at her death, last year, were made over to her children when they should attain their majority.

As guardian of his children Mr. Roosevelt Roosevelt petitioned the court to allow him $30,000 per year. This was deemed a proper allowance by Mrs. Caroline Astor, the children's grandmother, and by Mr. John Jacob Astor, their uncle. But Judge Barrett, to whom the referee reported favorably upon the petition of the father of the children, found it impossible to concur. He reduced the allowance one half—$7,500 for each child, a paltry $30 per day. The allowance demanded by Mr. Roosevelt Roosevelt for each child was $5,000 per year more than the State of Pennsylvania deems it prudent to pay its Governor, $3,000 more than the salary of Mayor Stuart, $7,000 more than the United States pays a member of the President's Cabinet, $10,000 more than the salary of a Congressman. Judge Barrett compromised the matter by allowing each of the minors the pay of a Major General in the army. How the Roosevelt Roosevelts shall spend the Astor dollars when they come of age is nobody's business; but the court is obliged to exercise discretion.

To those who have not penetrated the ways of the very rich Americans who go abroad to spend their money the estimated cost of bringing up the two little Roosevelt Roosevelts will be matters of astonishment.

Sundry Civil Bill Signed.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., Aug. 19.—Chief Executive Clerk O'Brien has returned to Washington with the sundry civil bill, duly signed by the president. His presence here gave rise to a report that he came to assist the president in preparing a special message, accompanying his signature or veto to the tariff bill, but this idea was soon dispelled when it became known that Mr. O'Brien was only with the president a short time. The president will undoubtedly return on Tuesday, although another informant says Thursday. His attack of malaria has almost entirely disappeared. It is stated here to-day on very reliable authority that the president was suffering considerable from this malady and that he had a severe chill the day before he left Washington.

—We have received invitations and tickets to the Firemen's Convention, which is to be held in DuBois on Tuesday, August 21. There is nothing that is livelier than a brass band, and as there are to be twenty-five, with that many fire companies in attendance, we are awfully sorry we can't go.

GOVERNOR'S DAY AT GETTYSBURG.

Pennsylvania's Troops Marched Across the Historic Parade Grounds.

Gettysburg, Pa., Aug. 16.—A huge leviathan of blue, with 16,000 legs, moved rythmically over the field to-day where Pickett's division marched to its death, was greeted with storms of applause by 20,000 spectators. Up and down these columns rode Governor Pattison and his staff and General Snowden and his staff, and for an hour and a half Pennsylvania's gallant troops marched across the most historic parade ground in this country, while assistant Secretary of War Doe and the regular army officers gazed and commended with unstinted praise

The long-looked-for Governor's day arrived at last to-day, and found thousands of visitors in the town ready to crowd into camp. Conspicious among them were Secretary of the Commonwealth Harrity, State Chairman Stranahan, and Congressman Straus, of New York, while among the well known Republican leaders were General D. H. Hastings, candidate for governor, and General Gregg, whose famous cavalry fight with Stuart was one of the greatest features of the battle. Colonel J. B. Walton, Longstreet's chief of artillery, was also an interested spectator.

At 2 o'clock a cloud of dust was seen approaching from the cavalry and artillery camp and the regulars galloped on the field to give an exhibition drill. While this was going on the light battery, C, of the artillery, was dashing around the field and slaughtering the imaginary enemy with the rapidest kind of firing.

The drill ended at 4 o'clock and at half past 4 o'clock the regiments began marching on the field until the parade ground was soon a living picture of moving troops as they formed in a continuous line, but instead each brigade formed in a line by itself, the third being in front, the second next, and the First in the rear.

The assembly of so large a body of troops was viewed with interest by the regular army officers present, many of them having never seen so many men on a field in view. When the division had been formed the order was given to present arms. Major General Snowden then assumed personal command and ordered the troops to carry arms. He then turned the division over it the governor. After the governor had acknowledged the salute he was accompanied by his staff, and the major general and his staff rode along the lines to the music of "Hail to the Chief," played in succession by the various brigade bands.

When the inspection had concluded, Governor Pattison took up his quarters at the reviewing stand and the grand parade began. After the review the men broke for their various camps and put in the night enjoying themselves. The troops will be started home to-morrow, when the Second brigade will leave, and all hands will be away by Saturday noon.

Japan to Revise Her Treatise.

YOKOHAMA, August 16.—A notice has been issued to the effect that the revision of treatise between Japan and the foreign powers will be taken in hand forthwith. The essential features of the revision will be that foreigners will not have the right of trial in their own consular courts. The government will confer upon foreigners certain privileges in the tenure of land settlement rights, and foreigners will also have certain privileges in regard to taxation. The foreigners here are greatly concerned at the proposed revision of the treaties, and are strongly of the opinion that the time has not arrived when their interests can be left to the Japanese.

Met a Horrible Death.

PITTSTON, Pa., Aug. 19.—In his endeavor to hide his money from thieves, William Mosh, a boarding house keeper at Port Griffith, met a horrible death last night. With a naked lamp he entered the mouth of an abandoned slope, located about 150 yards from his home. He had no sooner done so than a terrible explosion followed, caused by the igniting of the gas. The report awakened the residents of the neighborhood. Going to the mouth of the shaft they were horrified to find the body of Mosh crushed and frightfully burned. He was not dead, but died a few hours after being taken to the hospital.

It was thought that it being payday at the mines he received the board money of his boarders, and went to the mines for the purpose of hiding it. Later it was found to be the case, upwards of $500 in gold and silver being found in a hole about fifty yards from the mouth of the slope.

VIGOROUS HEALTH FOR MEN

THE PASTILLE CURE FOR NERVOUS DEBILITY TRADE MARK

Prof. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED Pastille

Has been put up in a proprietary form since 1878, and has been used for years prior to that time in private practice. It is no untried nostrum, of doubtful reputation, but a genuine specific for a very prevalent disease. Thousands of men, of all ages, have at some time in life brought on nervous debility and exhaustion, with organic weakness, by over brain work, excesses, too frequent indulgence or indiscretion and vicious habits, and it is to these that we offer a remedy that will, by its direct action upon the seat of the disease, stop the drain and restore the patient to vigorous health and strength.

Our method of introducing Prof. Harris' Pastille treatment is one which commends itself to all sensible persons—for the reason that we supply it upon their judgment of its value. We ask of our patrons nothing in the way of expense beyond a postal card and a two cent postage stamp. The postal card to be used in sending us their full address and the postage stamp for the letter returning the statement of their case for which we supply them with a question blank, to be filled out, and an envelope addressed to ourselves for use in returning it when filled.

FREE TRIAL PACKAGE. When we receive the statement on blank we prepare eight days' treatment and forward it by mail and prepay postage thereon—and along with the eight days' treatment we send full directions for using. The treatment in no way interferes with a person's attention to business, and causes no pain or inconvenience in any way.

We are so positive that it will give perfect satisfaction that we leave the matter of sending orders entirely with those using the free trial treatment. Having satisfied those sending for trial packages of our ability to benefit their sexual condition we feel that they are more largely interested than ourselves in continuing the use of the Pastilles. Even then we do not attempt to rob them by demanding high prices. On the contrary, we make the prices as low as possible, and the same to all. They are as follows: $5 for one month; $5 for two months; $7 for three months.

These prices secure the delivery of the Pastilles by mail. If desired by express we leave the patient to pay the charges. For over ten years we have operated our business upon this plan with satisfactory results.

We ask all persons needing treatment for any of the secret ills which come to mankind through a violation of nature's laws to send us their address on postal card or by letter and allow us to convince them that PROF. HARRIS' SOLUBLE MEDICATED PASTILLES have merit and are what they need.

All communications confidential and should be addressed to

GOOD FOR THE FIFTH.

Quarters in Good Shape and Their Books the Best in Camp.

The correspondent of the Philadelphia Press writing from the camp of the National Guard at Gettysburg has the following complimentary remarks to make about the Fifth regiment:

Surgeon General Reed, accompanied by the various medical officers of the division and brigade, continued his inspection of quarters this morning, and critically examined the camp of the Second brigade, started with the Fifth regiment. This regiment, from a sanitary standpoint, has perhaps the finest location on the grounds. The slope is excellent, carrying off all the water by its natural drains. The streets were found to be all well policed, with a wooden floor in each tent, dining tents in a most tidy condition and the kitchens scrupulously clean. The same condition of affairs was found at the camp of the Eighteenth regiment, and altogether it was decided that the quarters of the Second brigade could hardly be improved upon.

The Fifth regiment had skirmish drill this morning and battalion drill at 4 o'clock. The books and papers of this regiment are said to be the best regulated and most neatly written ones in camp. They are written in a most legible German script. At a recent election in the regiment Lieutenant Colonel Rufus C. Elder succeeded Amos Mullen in his position. Captain McNamara, of company 1, was elected major of the regiment, and Harry A. Drenning was elected to occupy the position left vacant by Major McNamara.

The Fifth is the regiment that did all the skirmish duty at the recent disorder at Punxsutawney. It was there twelve days, and during that time captured a novel cannon made by the striking Hungarians and loaded to the muzzle with giant power, nails, etc. It is mounted on a log. This canon is still the property of the regiment, which showed great efficiency in routing the mob at Hammer especially on the night of July 21, taking the advance into Walston, moving into Adrian and taking possession of the place, and, in so doing, promptly dispersed the mob of 3,000 foreigners and thus saving the lives of the deputies.

The officer of the day of the Fifth was Captain W. C. McKee of company D commander of the guard, Lieutenant Mahan, of company F, and the instructor of the guard wes First Lieutenant James Stackpole, of company G.

Two companies of the Fifth were doing provost duty in Gettysburg to-day. They were companies G, commanded by Captain Slagle, and C, commanded by Captain John West. Major A. S. Stayer, of the Fifth, was division medical inspector to-day.

Another from the "Raw Recruit."

The "newly-enlisted" of Company B again writes home as follows: I am getting along fine. I just came off guard and thought I would write you. The officer of the day visited all the posts this morning when I was on and complimented me on the way I performed my duties. I haven't been sick at all. It rained here all of Sunday and Monday morning. We had inspection Tuesday, which is one of the hardest things we have. I went through all right but a number fell out and the invalid corps was kept busy.

General Wylie and several officers complimented our company on its appearance. Oh, we are getting there in fine shape! But we still have the Governor's review, and perhaps another, to go through with. We have not had much time to get around yet, but expect to take in the sights before returning home. Did you hear anything about the strike at Connellsville? They say the Fifth and Fourteenth are to go if there is any trouble. I dug a bullet out of a tree near the famous stone wall this morning, it is quite a relic. There are a good many visitors here to-day but it is such a big place they don't show up here. Lieutenant Jackson has had charge of the company at various times, and he makes a good officer.

Four young men from Bellefonte who came down to see the sights, were taken in charge by a detail on Sunday and escorted out of camp, by order of Captain Reber, who said if they came back again he would put them in jail. There have been but three men on the sick list so far, and two of them have recovered and reported for duty while the third man will soon be around all right.

Among the Bellefonters who have visited camp are Mrs. S. H. Williams, Mrs. Satterfield, Mrs. W. F. Reber, Miss Henrietta Butts, Tom Beaver, Ed. Hoy, Rush Larimer, Homer Barnes, Charles Hughes, formerly of Bellefonte but now of Baltimore, where he is engaged in the brokerage business. At the Y. M. C. A. quarters may be found Mr. Hurlburt, Burt. Bayard, F. H. Cota and Charles Bosner. Mrs. W. F. Reeder with her son, Wallace, and Mac, Reber are also camp visitors.

Bellefonte's Taxes.

The tax duplicates for Bellefonte boro are made out and in the hand of the collector, for the year 1894. It may be of interest to our tax payers to know just how much money is collected annually to meet the expenses of the town. The amount of the various duplicates is as follows:

Borough	$ 2,918 54
Street	4,379 57
Interest	8,765 69
Water	4,446 25
Poor	7,298 19
School	10,545 39
From special water contracts—power, etc.	1,330 00
From licenses, fines, etc.	1,000 00
Total	$ 40,673 63

To the above should be added about $4,000, the amount of the state appropriation for our public schools, making the grand total of the moneys received for borough expenses annually, in round numbers, $44,000. The exonerations will reduce the above amount 10 per cent. That is an immense amount of money and it looks as though there was a great deal of extravagance in some of the departments. The poor department should be renovated for spending as much as it does. There are a number that are too high. It is hard to figure out where $4,000 are annually spent on our streets.

There are entirely too many leak-holes connected with the management of our borough affairs. Too much mouey is collected for what is done with it.—Centre Democrat.

Death of Mrs. Ellen Walker.

Yesterday morning at 7.45 o'clock, Mrs. Ellen Walker, widow of George Walker, late of Boggs township, Centre county, died at the residence of her son, Harry Walker, 2006 Ninth avenue, of apoplexy, aged 69 years. The husband of the deceased died about four years ago. She continued to reside in Centre county and had been in Altoona but a few days on a visit when she received the stroke which ended her life. She was a member of the Methodist Episcopal church for twenty-one years and was a pious and good woman highly esteemed in the community in which she lived, and will be greatly missed by a large circle of friends and acquaintances. She is survived by nine children. These are, David, of Cove Forge, Blair county; William, of Centre county; James, of Bellefonte; Harry, of this city, at whose home she died; Mrs. Martha Ramsey, of this city; Mrs. Alice Gill, of Pleasant Gap, Centre county; Mrs. Lydia Hampton, Mrs. Carrie Ayers and Mrs. Melvina Riter, of Bellefonte; This morning at 7.45 o'clock the remains will be taken to Bellefonte, where the interment will be made at 10 o'clock Friday morning. —Altoona Tribune.

Death of Rev. Joseph Nesbitt.

Rev. Joseph Nesbitt, D. D., pastor of the Great Island Presbyterian church, Lock Haven, died at his residence in that city on Tuesday, aged 67 years. His death was caused by consumption of the throat. Dr. Nesbitt was a most eminent divine, and was noted for his learning in the classics and theology, having few equals and no superiors in the state. He was well known by many people in Bellefonte, having frequently visited here and many times preached to large audiences in the Presbyterian church. He had been unfit for active duty for a year or more before his death.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria.
When she was a Child, she cried for Castoria.
When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria.
When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.

Stub Ends of Thought.

Idleness is first lieutenant to temptation.

We could use most of the advice we give away.

Good impulses may spring from very bad soil.

A lie is the hardest thing in the world to keep within bounds.

—W. C. Arnold, of Dubois, was on Thursday nominated for Congress in this congressional district. The fight was between Arnold and Cook, of Forest county.

—It was not a very large crowd that went from Bellefonte to attend the Lutheran social at the residence of Solomon Poorman, about three miles east of Bellefonte, on Thursday evening.

—A commandery of 32 men, in full uniform will go from this place to Altoona on the 6th of September, to attend a State Convention of the K. G. E.

Romola Rumblings.

After a prolonged sleep your correspondent "Eli" awakes and now endeavors to give you a few items.

The picnic and festival which was held at this place Saturday last was a grand success and everyone seemed to enjoy the day.

Mr. W. R. McCloskey is the happiest man in Centre county. "Doc" says its name shall be Ruth or Esther.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. L. Harvey Sundayed with Jacob Bechdel, Esq.

The funeral of Mrs. Jacob Confer occurred at the Christian church, of this place, on Sunday, August 12th. Mrs Confer was born September 5th, 1817, and died August 10th, 1894, aged 67 years, 11 months and 5 days. She was a member of the Disciple church. May she rest in peace. Her husband, eight-children, forty-one grand children and twelve great grand-children survive her.

Miss Clara Gardner returned home last Saturday after an absence of several months.

Miss Mollie and Temp Hall, also Miss Nellie Tebbs, of Howard, attended the picnic.

C. M. Fox has recovered from the effects of being kicked by a horse several days ago.

The music delivered by the Howard cornet band was certainly excellent, and every one who attended the picnic are of the same opinion.

The base ball fever seems to have worn off of our boys since they crossed bats with the Eagleville boys.

J. W. Young claims to be the champion oats raiser of Curtin township.

Our farmers are very busy trying to get through seeding in time to attend the Granger picnic.

Mr. Thomas McCloskey is getting along as well as can be expected and it is thought that Dr. McEntire will have him around in a few days.

Eugene Wensel seems to be slowly sinking and little hopes are entertained for his recovery. Mr. Wensel has ever been an honest and a christian young man, so he can exclaim in the language of John A. Logan 'Since' it is to be so thank God I am ready."

R. C. Daley says there is many a slip twixt the cup and the lip. Why so, Clarence?

PREPARING FOR THE STRUGGLE

The Congressional Campaign Committee Getting Ready for the Struggle.

Washington, Aug. 20.—With the close of congress, the managers of the congressional national campaign committees are preparing for the fall campaign with much energy.

Senator Faulkner, at the head of the Democratic committee, is directing his efforts toward having a Democratic majority in the house of representatives. Extensive headquarters are in operation with the executive department in charge of Secretary Lawrence Gardner. The work thus far has been preparing full statistics of districts, writing the campaign book, and in circulating documents. The campaign book is about half completed. It will be a volume of abont 300 pages, showing the work of congress and the reforms claimed to have been made in the departmental service. It will be furnished to speakers as a reference book for efforts on the stump.

The statistics gathered are the most elaborate ever undertaken by the committee.

Campaign speakers will not be sent out by the committee, as each congressional nominee will be left to secure his own speakers. Many of the congressmen arranged a system of exchanging speeches, by which they visit the districts of their friends and the latter reciprocate.

The Republican congressional campaign in the absence of Secretary Olds, is in charge of Assistant Secretary McKee. By the decision of the Republican national committee, the congressional campaign is left entirely in the hands of the congressional committee, Chairman Manley acting in an advisory capacity. The headquarters' force is just now engaged in getting together the campaign text book, which Captain McKee expects to have issued by September 1.

The committee has had its headquarters open continuously from November 1 last, and since that time has circulated two million pieces of campaign literature. This work will be pushed with even greater diligence from this time forward.

The committee furnishes matter for a page each week to several plate-printing establishments and press associations, which is said to be in demand by newspapers all over the country.

There will be no speakers' bureau at the committee headquarters, as congressmen and candidates are found to prefer arranging for speakers themselves. Every assistance possible in securing speakers will, however, be rendered where it is asked for.

Pullman Strikers Starving.

Chicago, August 20.—Governor Altgeld in his official capacity came from the state capital to-day to personally investigate the condition of 1,600 destitute ex-employes of Pullman's Palace Car company. Their wives and children, Chairman Heathcote, of the strike committee, and his colleagues had written a letter to the governor telling him the former employes of the company who were out of work were in a starving condition and that their families were also suffering for want of the necessities of life. After a thorough investigation the governor found that this statement of the condition of the idle people in Pellman and its vicinity who went out on strike several months ago was not exaggerated; he also found that there was no longer any strike at Pullman; that all the old man had been applying daily for work for the last ten days. All not employed are now suffering men and women instead of strikers. The governor learned in a short time that the strike was off and that starving was on to a distressing extent, and he proposes to relieve the unfortunate people as quickly as he can get the city and county authorities to act.

Will Work Double Turn.

Reading, Pa., August 20.—The Reading company has issued orders to work double turn at its car shops in this city. Recently there has sprung up a great demand for box and gondola cars. The company has about 3,000 shop cars lying on its various sidings and in order to supply the trade it has been found necessary to work over time. These cars were all allowed to accumulate during the dull times, there being no special demand for them. A perceptible increase in freight business is noticed along the Reading system.

Judge Barker Defines the Law.

Ebensburg, Aug 20.—Judge Barker filed his decision this morning in the Gallitzin school case, in which W. T. Kerr, of the Junior Order United American Mechanics, sought to restrain the board of directors of Gallitzin public schools from employing nuns as teachers. The decree dissolves the preliminary injunction in so far as the same restrains the school district of Gallitzin borough, the school directors of the said district and their successors from employing the other defendant named in the bill as teachers under certificates issued by the county superintendent in their religious names and permitting said teachers to remain as such while wearing the garb of nuns, and in so far as it restrains these teachers from acting in the capacity of teachers while wearing the garb of nuns, and it is also dissolved in so far as it restrains the said teachers from permitting the pupils to address them by the title of "Sister" or a visiting priest as "Father." The preliminary injunction is make perpetual in so far as it restrains the defendants from permitting the use of the catechism of the Roman Catholic church as books of instruction in said public school buildings at any time, during school hours or otherwise, and from giving or permitting any religious, sectarian instruction therein, at any time, and from using or permitting the use of the public school property for any other than free school purposes. The defendants are ordered to pay all docket costs and the cost of their witnesses, the plaintiff to pay the cost of their witnesses.

Seven Prisoners Escape from Jail.

Chambersburg, Pa., August 20.—Seven prisoners gained their way from the Franklin county jail to liberty last night. Of these five still roam at large. The manner of the escape again emphasizes the looseness with which so many jails in the interior of the state are kept.

Hayes Ingalls, one of the escaped prisoners, who was recaptured, tells how the thing was done. They got out by cutting a hole through the floor of the corridor by means of a saw that had been smuggled into the jail by the father of one of the prisoners. Through this hole they escaped into the cellar; thence through a door into the yard, climbed to the top of a hog pen, scaled the wall and slid down a tree into an adjoining yard, from there escaped through an alley and were gone.

Thomas Dewoodie, an old man, was unable to climb the wall and was caught in the yard. Hayes Ingalls, an alleged counterfeiter, succeeded in reaching Shippensburg on a freight train, but was caught and brought back. The others are still at large. None of the men have been tried yet.

The best of all ways
To lengthen our days,
Is to use Pierce's Purgative Pellets Sir!

For nine-tenths of the diseases of the body begin with constipation or the clogging up of the sluice-ways, through which the impurities of the blood escape, so that they are reabsorbed into the system. The Purgative Pellets act gently but thoroughly upon the stomach and liver, and are best laxative known. Without racking and straining the organs, they open the bowels and restore a natural, healthy digestion. Unequaled in dyspepsia, constipation, biliousness, piles, or any of the resulting diseases.

Big Encampment.

Mt. Gretna, Aug. 20.—Today is opening day of the American Farmers Encampment at this place. All was life and activity this morning. Teams were busy hauling the various exhibits to their respective places for exhibition. The prospects for an increased display in machinery and implements to last year is very encouraging and to-day a large number of exhibits were assigned space by Dr. S. P. Heilman, Managers, who were kept busy all day superintending matters.

To-morrow being Republican day, General D. H. Hastings and ex-Governor Beaver will be present and deliver addresses. The prospects for a successful encampment this year are very flattering and no doubt the general public will take advantage of hearing and seeing the intensely interesting incidents in store for them. If the weather is favorable a large attendance is expected to morrow.

NEARING THE END.

This Week May See the Close of the Fifty-third Congress.

Washington, Aug. 19.—There is good reason to believe that the week that opens to-morrow will see the close of the second session of the Fifty-third congress. The work of the senate is completed. The last of the appropriation bills was completed and the conference report adopted Friday, and there is nothing now for the senate to do but clean up the ends of the very busy and very entertaining session.

About the only thing that keeps senators here is the tariff bill and the general impression is now that the president will permit it to become law just as soon as the treasury officials are ready to carry it into effect. That he does not intend to veto the bill is clear for the law print is now being prepared at the government printing office. After to-morrow it is likely the senate will meet for a short time daily and then adjourn pending the reception of the tariff bill. Until it is known just when to expect this measure from the president it is not likely that a joint resolution fixing a day for adjournment will be introduced. In the meantime there will be an effort (and, perhaps a successful one) to pass the house bill to repeal all laws authorizing a rebate of the international revenue tax on alcohol used in the arts. Mr. Sherman, republican, of Ohio, in his "plain talk" on Saturday, showed the necessity for the passage of that measure, and Mr. Allison, republican, of Iowa, will be heard on the same point and on the whole subject of this session's tariff legislation.

There is nothing much for the house of representatives to do, apparently, but to wait for the action of the president upon the tariff bill and then adjourn. The adoption of the Murphy resolution in the senate Saturday is taken as an expression of the determination on the part of that body to do no more business and the futile efforts of the managers to get a quorum to vote on the sugar trust and sugar bounty resolutions demonstrated the fact that like the house the senate was practically without a quorum. Therefore it is assumed that none of the bills yet in conference between the two houses need be further considered at this session, for it is not likely that they would be passed, even were the conferees to come to an agreement thereon. Among the class of measures are two proposed judicial changes, one relating to the powers of commissioners appointed by territorial courts, and the other by the other to the payment of state taxes against corporations in the hands of receivers by United States courts. The committee on rules has notified the chairman of the committees applying for a day on which to consider business reported from that no more allotments of time for that purpose will be made. As long as the house remains in session bills may be considered and passed by unanimous consent and nothing that does not meet general approval stands any show of getting these. Just before the house adjourned last Thursday an effort was made to gain consideration for the bill reported by a conference committee and agreed to that day by the senate, prohibiting the immigration of anarchists. But objection was made by several of the members and the probabilities now are that it must go until the next session.

Watching the Hour-glass.

As a miser counts his gold, night and day;
So I count the minutes told in the glass,
My eye is dim, my hair is thin and gray,
And I know I'm growing old as they pass.

When we approach "the sere and yellow leaf" of our days, we are prone to look back regretfully. A clear conscience and sound health will lighten our gloomy reflections. Health is the greatest blessing—Dr Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery the greatest medicine. It arrests the progress of lung and scrofulous diseases, and cures consumption or Lung-scrofula, if taken in time. It is the king of liver invigorators and blood-purifiers, and a powerful tonic, building up the debilitated patient to perfect health. Contains no alcohol.

His First Fishing Trip.

Buzzard's Bay, Mass., August 20.—The president took his first fishing trip down the bay to-day. He was accompanied by Dr. O'Reillo and Captain Evans. They left in the Ruth soon after 8 o'clock, and after fishing most all day for scup and tautoga, they made sail for Gray Gables. The wind had fairly died out, but with a favorable tide the Ruth reached the landing at 7.30 o'clock. It was a long, slow sail. The scup and tautoga have struck into the bay and the president and his party had fairly good luck. Unless Mr. Cleveland changes his plans he will leave for New York on the John D. Rodgers tomorrow afternoon, arriving at Washington on Wednesday afternoon.

Pattison Pleased with the Guard.

Harrisburg, Aug. 21.—Governor Pattison is much pleased with the showing made by the National Guard at Gettysburg. He will request the war department to detail two United States army officers for each of the three brigades of the National Guard to spend the winter in delivering practical lectures in the various armories on tactics, military history and martial law. His purpose is to extend the West Point advantages, as far as possible, to the National Guard of Pennsylvania.

Killed the Desperado.

Chester, Pa., Aug. 21.—B. H. Day, a constable of Lansdowne borough, this morning shot and killed a colored man named Edward Saxson, whom he attempted to arrest. The negro pulled a razor and slashed the constable in the face, neck and stomach, injuring him severely. The officer, in self defense, drew his revolver and shot the man through the heart. The negro was wanted for having split open the head of a man with a hatchet during a quarrel. Saxson was a desperate character and had declared his intention to kill any officer who attempted to arrest him.

A Rich Discovery of Iron Ore.

The Galeton, Potter county, Gazette says: Prospecting on the quiet has been going on in the southern and southeastern portions of this county for several months past. Rich coal deposits have been discovered on Kettle creek, silver has been found over near Hulls, tin has been unearthed near Sweden valley (so reported) and now comes the best news yet—the discovery, within the past week of rich deposits of pure iron ore within one mile of Galeton's Main street. The Gazette is not at liberty just yet to publish the exact location of this most important discovery, but we have seen a few specimens of the ore and it is of a quality surpassing anything ever found in the Johnstown district.

MAYBURY MILLER UNDER ARREST.

Charged with Making False Entries in Second National Bank Books.

Maybury Miller, who held a position in the Second National bank, has become involved in the unfortunate affairs of that institution. Mr. George M. Coffin, who is the chief of the government examiners, and who has been in the city since Sunday appeared before United States Commissioner H. Price Graffius, yesterday, and swore out a warrant for the arrest of Miller. The charge is that the latter made false entries in the books of the Second National bank under the direction of the absconding cashier, Harry Gardner. Miller had sworn before the inquest in the case of the dead bank examiner, on Saturday, that he had made such alterations, involving a change of about $30,000.

The text of the information is as follows:

UNITED STATES OF AMERICA, } ss.
WESTERN DISTRICT OF PENN'A }

Before me, H. Price Graffius, a commissioner of the circuit court of the United States for the Western district of Pennsylvania, personally appeared this day Geo. M. Coffin, who being duly sworn, deposes and says: That on or about the 26th day of January, A. D. 1894, in the county of Blair, in said district, Maybury Miller, then and there being an officer or clerk of the Second National bank, in violation of section 5,209 of the revised statutes of the United States, did unlawfully make certain false entries in the book, showing balances due individual depositors of the Second National bank of Altoona, Pa., to wit: Did on the day and year aforesaid unlawfully make false entries in the book showing balance due the following depositors of the said bank: H. W. Andrews, W. E. Blanchard, estate of T. S. Gardner, Fidelity Building and Loan association, H. E. Ferguson, E. H. Flick, S. M. Griffith C. Hauser & Co., Hope Building and Loan association, G. W. Henry, A. Kipple Lowthe & Flynn, John P. Levan H. March A. P. MacDonald, postmaster; J. H. McCullough, M. A. Pringle, Pennsylvania Building and Loan Association, Standard Building and Loan association, W. G. Stahle, H. E. Stahle, Teutonia Building and Loan association, Vigilant Building and Loan association and Workingmen's Building and Loan association, with intent to deceive the examiner appointed to examine the affairs of said association. Deponent further says that he has reason to believe and does believe that C. A. Buch and W. L. Kennedy are material witnesses to the subject matter of this complaint.

(Signed) GEORGE M. COFFIN.

Sworn to before me and subscribed in my presence this 20th day of August, A. D. 1894. H. P. GRAFFIUS, Commissioner of Circuit Court of the United States for the Western District of Pennsylvania.

The warrant was placed in the hands of Special Officer Bernard Clark to be served. Miller was out of town, but came to the city on Altoona accommodation last night at 10.20. The officer was in waiting and at once placed him under arrest.

Bail in the case was fixed at $5,000 but the defendent could not find the required bondsman and was forced to remain in the custody of the officer. He was not placed in prison, however, but together with Clark remained at a hotel last night. There is little, if any doubt that the required bail will be furnished to-day, and Miller will then be released pending trial at the United States court. He had warm friends in the city and there will be much sympathy felt for him in his trouble.

Love Making.

From what he says, the editor of the Atchison Globe knows all about it: 'There is not much Summer love making that is serious, and little of the Winter variety that is frivolous. When a man walks a half dozen blocks through cold and snow to see a girl he means business. Susceptible girls shouldn't believe anything that is said to them in July and August."

"Here's to the maiden of bashful fifteen,
And here's to the widow of forty!"

They have each reached a period in life when most females need assistance in tiding them over the shoals which so often completely wreck their after lives. In producing regularity and healthy action of the female organs, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription stands without a peer. At a time when nature gives them increased burdens, so many young girls have their health for life shattered. If you wish your daughter to miss those periodical, agonizing backaches, and dizzy headaches, languid and tired feelings, accompanied with rough, pimply skin and dull, heavy eyes, get her a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. If you have reached the latter period of danger you will need a bottle, too. See wrapper on bottle for printed guarantee. Satisfaction given in every case or money returned.

TO PUT ON needed flesh, no matter how you've lost it, take Doctor Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. It works wonders. By restoring the normal action of the deranged organs and functions, it builds the flesh up to a safe and healthy standard — promptly, pleasantly, and naturally. The weak, emaciated, thin, pale and puny are made strong, plump, round, rosy, and robust. Nothing so effective as a strength-restorer and flesh-maker is known to medical science. Filthy Cod liver oil and all its disguised compounds can't compare with it.

They build up fat, not healthy flesh.

Practically, you can get the "Discovery" on trial. In everything that's claimed for it—in purifying the blood, and building up the flesh and strength—if it ever fails to benefit or cure, you have your money back.

On these terms, is any substitute that may pay a dealer better to urge and sell, likely to be "just as good" for you to buy?

Nothing else, at any price, is really as cheap. You pay only for the good you get.

Dr. Sage's Remedy promises to cure your Catarrh—permanently.

AS TO PULLMAN.

The Investigation by the Strike Commission Still Goes On.

Chicago, August 21.—M. J. Carroll, editor of the Eight-hour Herald, was the first witness called by the strike commission to-day. Mr. Caroll told of the efforts of the civil federation, of which he is a member, to settle the Pullman strike. He was informed by the Pullman officials, he said, that they had nothing to arbitrate and for this reason the federation accomplished nothing. The witness said that hard times were the cause of the railroad as well as other recent strikes, and that the manufacturers in the time of business depression should give their employes the benefit of the profits reaped in good times He said that he believed compulsory arbitration, applied to quasi-public industries, would be beneficial, and read a letter from a friend in New Zealand showing the beneficial effects of government ownership of railroads and telegraphs.

Malcolm McDowell, a newspaper reporter told of the overturning of cars at Pullman. He said that the mob at that point was composed of outside men, mainly foreigners, and that there were no railroad strikers in the disorderly crowd.

Rev. M. L. Wickham, pastor of the Swedish Methodist church at Pullman, was emphatic in his denunciation of the methods of the Pullman company.

"When business gets slack," he said, "the company's employes living outside of Pullman are ordered to move into the company's houses on peril of losing their positions. Some of the men have attempted to buy houses on the installment plan, but this is discouraged, as such men are always the first to be laid off when the force is cut down. The men are unfairly treated in various ways. I know of one instance when a man was injured in the shops and unfair means were taken to prevent a suit for damages. The man was taken to the hospital, and later issued a sworn statement purporting to be signed by him, in which he said the accident was entirely unavoidable. I know that paper to have been a forgery, for on the date on which it was made the man was unable to write, and could not have signed his name.

"One of the worst features of the Pullman system of house renting is the immorality which it encourages. Many of the workmen are compelled to rent rooms to help out their meagre incomes. The houses are so arranged that the roomers must pass and as a result the morality of Pullman is much below that of surrounding towns. There is no way for the workingmen to avoid this, as many of them are practically compelled to live in the company's houses."

Roy Baker, a Chicago reporter, was called upon for an account of the riot at Hammond. Mr. Baker stated that he was in the centre of the mob and saw no A. R. U. men or railroad strikers the crowd being made up of toughs and outside men. He said that shortly before the United States troops arrived a small body of men, surrounded by women, children and other spectators, attempted to overturn some Pullman cars. Without warning, the witness declared, the troops fired, killed and wounded several people, all of whom were innocent spectators. Mr. Baker said that at no time during the trouble did he see a railroad man of members of the A. R. U. in the mob.

Lycoming Democrats Nominate.

Williamsport, Pa., Aug. 21.—The Lycoming county Democratic convention was held here today and nominated the following ticket. Congress, William B. Holloway; state senator, Hon. J. Henry Cochran; members of assembly, Otto G. Kaupp, H. H. Rutter and Walter E. Ritter, the latter renominated for the third time. Resolutions were adopted endorsing the national and state administrations and commending the course pursued by congress in the efforts to vindicate the platform of 1892 and secure tariff reform. It was the smallest Democratic convention ever held in this county.

John P. Levan, president of the Second National bank; I. C. Adam, clerk at Stern & Bendheim's clothing store; Jacob William, Pennsylvania Railroad watchman; Dr. Christy, who examined the dead bank examiner; Joseph Maize, the new night watchman at the bank; C. M. Lewis and Anthony Keller, who were sitting on the steps when the fatal shot was fired; Chief of-police Tillard, who arrived shortly afterwards; W. K. Kennedy and Maybury Miller, clerks at the bank, and Wm. Allen and James Owen, were the only witnesses who gave testimony before the jury.

Not one of the men were of the opinion, other than suicide, nor did their depositions trend to any other theory. Practically nothing new was developed except in the testimony of the bank clerks.

W. L. Kennedy told of Miller summing up one of the books last Tuesday in a very careless manner, and after his report had been sent to Washington said he "didn't know what the d—l he had done that for," speaking in reference to his manner of counting up books. According to clerk Kennedy's testimony Miller seemed greatly excited when he found in the day book that a lot of figures had been changed before his examination of the bank last February and changed back the day afterwards. The witness also stated that the bank examiner's conduct was very peculiar for three or four days before the suicide, and that at the time he had remarked to Mr. Hammond that he believed Miller was crazy.

In Maybury Miller's evidence, he said that he had been ordered to change some figures in one of the books one day by Gardner and afterwards, when the totals wouldn't balance, he told Gardner so and was ordered to change the figures to the original. The changes in the figures involved a difference of about $30,000. This was the change Clerk Kennedy spoke of in his testimony and was made prior to Miller's visit February.

At the conclusion of hearing the testimony the jury adjourned, without a verdict until 10 o'clock Thursday at the request of Mr. Stranahan, who said that he wished to report to the friends of the dead man and to the controller of the treasury before the verdict was rendered, to see if anything new can be learned.

Work Of The House.

Washington, Aug. 21.

The House adjourned until Thursday after an unimportant session of about an hour to-day. Unsuccessful efforts were made to secure consideration of several important measures, chief among which was the bill for the exclusion and deportation of alien Anarchists. Mr. Warner, Democrat, New York, objected, and persisted in his objection, notwithstanding the appeals of Mr. Boatner, Democrat, Louisiana, and Mr. McMillin, Democrat, Tennessee, the latter of whom, in answer to a question stated that 500 Anarchists were now on their way to the United States, whose descriptions have been furnished to the United States officials. Mr. Warner declared that he was not to be scared into consent for the passage of a bill giving such sweeping powers to the Commissioners of Emigration without having amendments considered in committee, before the House was plunged into a discussion of the measure.

Several Senate bills were passed and also a Senate joint resolution directing the printing of 20,000 copies of the tariff bill.

At Mount Gretna.

Mount Gretna, Pa., August 21.—This was the second day of the Mount Gretna agricultural, mechanical and industrial exposition, and nearly 3,000 people were on the grounds.

Ex-Governor James A. Beaver, Hon. Volney B. Cushing, of Maine, and Hon. E. J. Wheeler, of New York, delivered addresses this afternoon, Governor Beaver presenting the issue of the republican party and Cushing and Wheeler those of the prohibitionists.

General Hastings, the republican nominee for governor, was booked for an address, but was detained by other business, and many persons were thereby greatly disappointed.

The exhibits are fine and the exposition promises to be a great success.

Ex-Governor James A. Beaver arrived here shortly after noon via the Pennsylvania railroad. Hon. V. B. Cushing, of Maine, and E. J. Wheeler, of New York, arrived at noon. Hale, chairman of the prohibition party, and H. C. Patton, of Lancaster, were also present. The prospects are very encouraging to the management that this session will be the most successful in the history of the encampment. The various exhibits are a credit to the enterprising firms represented, which number 100, being the second highest since the organization. This number does not include the minor exhibitors, which would increase the number considerably. To-night Professor Owen, of Bucknell university, will deliver an intensely interesting lecture on "Air" with experiments to the auditorium.

WILLIAM MILLER'S SUICIDE!

Particulars of Friday's Tragedy in Altoona.

At 1.05 Friday afternoon, William Miller, the trusted United States bank examiner, who has been in this city looking over the accounts of the closed Second National bank, shot himself with a Colts army 45 calibre revolver, while standing alongside of the ex-cashier's desk, and immediately in front of the safe door of the wrecked institution. When Miller fired the fatal shot President John P. Levan, who was in an adjoining room, rushed into the room and found Miller lying on the floor writhing in the last agonies of death.

The ball entered the right side of the neck just back of the ear, and passed clear through, coming out on the left side at a point almost directly opposite. Death was instantaneous. The man never uttered a word after the ball was fired. The unfortunate man fell on his back, and his body was soon surrounded by a large pool of his own blood, which spread all over the floor of the bank.

The revolver was found in an open drawer of the cashier's desk, where it had dropped from the hand of the suicide after he had committed the deed. The papers in the drawer were spotted with blood and an envelope that lay on the desk was saturated.

Mr. Miller had worked on the a counts of the closed bank until this morning at 2 o'clock.

Mr. Miller was a single man and was 36 years of age. He had been bank examiner on this circuit for about four years and had a reputation for both honesty and hard work. His home was at Mercer, Pa. His family connection is of the best in Western Pennsylvania, and he was always known to be sober and strictly temperate.

It has been very plainly seen that he was under a great mental strain while here and had worried greatly and beyond imagination. He took the loss of the bank very much to heart, and persons with whom he came in contact said he acted as if he himself was the loser. At one time prior to this he was obliged to close a bank which he again opened. A short period after this the bank was forced to litigation and this is believed to have preyed heavily on his mind.

The bank directors, and especially the president, are worried beyond all conception over this sad affair. The examiner had completed his report and was waiting for word from Washington. Now the whole work will have to be gone over again. Acting Comptroller of the Currency Tucker at Washington has directed John Lloyd, president of the First National bank of this city, to be put in charge of the bank until the arrival of Examiner Henlin. A receiver will now, in all probability, have to be appointed, but the bank cannot resume, at the earliest, within a week or ten days.

Mr. Miller's brother, who has been summoned, will take the body to his late home Mercer in the morning for burial. The city police are guarding the banking building.

The story of the tragedy as told by President J. P. Levan, the only person who was in the bank when it occurred, is substantially as follows: After eating his dinner at noon Mr. Levan walked down to the bank, meeting at the door Clerks Kennedy and Miller, who were just going out for dinner. This was about 12.30. Mr. Levan then went inside and found Examiner Miller sitting in the directors' office of the counting room.

After a few moments' conversation it occurred to Mr. Levan that the examiner was delaying going to dinner because of his presence, and he said to Mr. Miller: "If you have everything locked up you ought to go to dinner, Mr. Miller. Or, if not, I will walk down to the hotel until you are ready to come back."

The examiner answered pleasantly that there was no reason why Mr. Levan shouldn't remain while he was gone. The examiner then left the bank, but in fifteen minutes he returned, Mr. Levan remarking that he had hardly given himself time to eat his dinner. Mr. Miller said that he had not been feeling well and had no appetite. He had only gone to the dinning room door and returned without having eaten at all. The two men sat discussing the affairs of the bank. Leaving Mr. Levan sitting in the office, Miller arose and walked into the counting room.

Mr. Levan heard a moment later the report of a pistol. He ran forward to the counting room. On the side of the cashier's table, and directly in front of the bank safe, lay the outstretched form of Mr. Miller. Blood was gushing from a great bullet hole through his head. Mr. Levan rushed out on the street and gave the alarm. The report of the revolver had been heard for a half a square and some persons in stores nearby had already stepped to the sidewalk to inquire the cause of it.

To the first person that Mr. Levan met he told that the examiner had shot himself in the bank, but he was himself so excited and weak from the shock that he might have fallen had not friends led him to a chair in Westfall's furnishing house.

District Attorney Hammond was summoned to the scene of the shooting, and in the absence of Coroner Poet, who was out of the city, selected a coroner's jury. Alderman Smith was summoned and the jury sworn. Nothing was found on the person of the dead man to indicate why the deed was committed.

Clean the Refrigerator.

Probably, few housekeepers or servants, say Dr. Cyrus Edson, have any idea of what is meant by keeping the refrigerator clean. All refrigerators should be washed thoroughly once a week with hot water in which soda has been dissolved. In the part where the food is kept, little particles of this are apt to adhere to the zinc. Unless these are removed, they will putrefy and produce a germ which will attack at once all fresh food put in, and cause it to become bad in a very short time. Almost every one is familiar with the stale smell in refrigerators, which is indicative of putrefying matter. This means that the corners must be scrubbed out, and the waste-pipe thoroughly cleansed. Then, before the ice is put into it, it should be well aired, The solution of soda should be washed out with fresh hot water.

Wages Down to a Starvation Point.

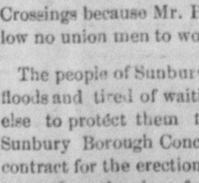
Chicago, Aug. 16.—Thomas W. Heathcote, chaiman of the Pullman strike committee, was the first witness examined at the afternoon session of the labor commission. He had the company reduce wages until it was utterly impossible for the men to live. The Pullman employes did not join the American Railway union until they saw the necessity of organization of some sort. Considering the American Railway union the strongest labor union in the United States they joined it when affairs reached a critical point with them; and some were getting but 8 cents a day. He asserted that the men joined the American Railway union at Grand Crossings because Mr. Pullman would allow no union men to work in his shops.

The people of Sunbury have got tired of floods and tired of waiting for some one else to protect them from floods. The Sunbury Borough Concil has awarded a contract for the erection of the embankment along the river front two feet above the high water mark of last May. The cost, which will be about $15,000, the taxpayers of Sunbury will pay out of their own pockets and hereafter when the rains descend and the floods come, the residents of Sunbury will sleep in serene consciousness of safety well earned and paid for out of their own pockets. It will not be forgotten that Sunbury is the county seat of a rock-ribbed Democratic county, whose people believe in home rule.

Great Britain and the Anarchists.

London, Aug. 16.—John Gilbert Talbot, conservative member for Oxford University, questioned the home secretary in the house of commons to-day as to the government policy toward anarchists. He said that Great Britain was the only civilized country that saw anarchists gather and plot within her boarders, yet refused to take steps against them.

Mrs. Putnam, Forristdale, Mass., says:



"That Bearing-Down Feeling

and dizzy, faint, gasping attacks left me as soon as I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I am like one raised from the dead. I was sick with womb troubles so long I thought I never could get well."

ON THE WITNESS STAND.

Vice President Howard of the American Railway Union Testifies.

Chicago, August 15.—In his testimony before the national board of labor commissioners to-day George W. Howard, vice president of the American Railway union, gave some of the history of the union in an interesting way.

Mr. Howard was asked if the policy of the American Railway union was to absorb the other labor organizations, and if so whether this policy had anything to do with the recent strike.

Mr. Howard said it had nothing to do with the declaration of the strike, but much to do with the outcome of it. The American Railway union, he asserted, was formed to promote harmony of action among the railway employes and not to destroy other organizations. The scope of of the American Railway union was defined at length.

Mr. Howard said the boycott against Pullman cars was instituted not because Pullman had manufactured the cars, but because he operated them. "We simply wished to cut off Mr. Pullman's revenue," said the witness.

Mr. Howard went minutely into the extent and cause of the strike. He related how the general managers refused, on Mayor Hopkin's request to arbitrate the strike. He said the first he had heard of rioting was when a reporter for a morning paper drew a pistol at Blue Island. Mr. Howard testifies that he had been given information from city detectives that certain persons had been paid large sums by General Manager Egan, of the Rock Island road, to burn cars, thereby arousing public sentiment against the strikers.

John D. Kerman asked the witness a number of questions with a view of showing that strikes are unnecessary and that they give the lawless element a chance to commit acts of violence. Mr. Howard acknoweledged that this was true and that it was better not to strike than to strike if possible.

The commission adjourned with Mr. Howard on the stand.

The Head of the Family.

The position of the head of the family is not an unimportant one, and according to the precedent established by the Creator when he placed Adam in the garden before the crowning after thought was conceived in the brain of the Deity, man has occupied the position officially, says the Baltimore Sun. There is importance attached to become the head of anything it means responsibility and recognized superior qualifications generally; it means power and force to which some one more or less lowly must doff his hat.

As the head of the family our first parents lack in qualifications; there was suspicious lack of magnanimity in Adam on that occasion when he turned state's evidence and placed the mother of the human race on the defensive, with none to plead her cause. He showed a lamentable lack of reserved force in that interview with the angel of the Lord, did Adam, and when Eve passed without the gates of the garden tagging at the heels like the guilty condemned thing that she was, her liege lord felt convinced he was the official head of the house. Adam has many sons built after the same plan and officially more than really the head of the house.

It is man's prerogative to be the head of the family, and the position is one worthy the ablest son of the Nation. It means a great deal, this being the head of the family; it means more than merely having your name on the door plate and the carriage block; it means more than carving the meat and locking up at night and ordering the coal; it means more than pluging the children into disgrace at will more than poking the fire when it doesn't need it or when it does; more than finding fault with the steak or coffee; it means more than the autocrat power of the pretty domestic tyrant. The qualifications, entitling a man to the position of the head in his house are calculated to set him thinking.

Bellefonte's 100 Years.

Bellefonte in 1895 can celebrate the centennial of the building of the first house in that town, in 1795, by Col. Dunlap and James Harris. Part of the house is still standing and occupied by Jacob Valentine a few years ago. In it the first courts were held in 1801.

Now suppose our neighbors across the mountain have a grand centennial, and call in the outside world to celebrate with them the one hundreth anniversary of the town. Begin now to lay out a program, and let it be a day long to be remembered. Bellefonte knows how to get up a big thing—has had big jollifications before—but let this be the biggest of 'em all, and we will all be there.—Centre Reporter.

Coal Land Sold.

We are informed that last week Mr. John W. Cook, the coal operator, sold his Woodland coal mines to a syndicate for $60,000,00. These mines were opened but a few years ago and produced a fine quality of cannel coal that commands a high price in any market. Mr. Cook formerly resided in Bellefonte but recently removed to Philadelphia where his office is located. He expects to develop a valuable tract of coal land in Armstrong county that is equally productive.

He Made a Test.

In the thickly populated districts of Blair county the tax assessors are compelled to work fourteen and fifteen hours per day to perfect their assessments. They claim that eight hours form a day's work in law. A test case was instituted by Philip Holton, an Altoona assessor, against the commissioners to recover pay for work performed beyond the eight-hour limit. The judge dismissed the case, holding that the assessor's pay is governed by days and not by hours.

—On Thursday Montgomery & Co. effected a settlement with the insurance companies for the damage done their stock by the recent fire in their clothing store. The amount received was, we are informed, $3,200. The store is now open for business again.

Locating Old Forts in Huntingdon County.

Mr. Jay G. Weiser, of Middleburg, Snyder county, who is a member of the Indian Forts Commission, appointed under an act passed at the last session of the Legislature to ascertain the location of the forts built in this State prior to 1783 as defences against the Indians, has been in that county several days last week, attending to the duties for which he was appointed. He called upon Milton S. Lyle, the county historian, who gave him much information in addition to that he had already obtained. Mr. Weiser visited the sites of four of the old forts, will make a future visit to another and will depend upon Mr. Lytle for data as to the exact location and history of the other, there having been six. They were as follows: Fort Shirley, near Shirleysburg; McAlevy's Fort, in Jackson township; Anderson's Fort, near Petersburg; Lytle's Fort in Porter township, and Hartsock's Fort, in Penn township. The purpose in locating the sites of these forts is that they may be marked with a stone or monument as historical landmarks. Mr. Weiser is a descendant of Conrad Weiser, of Berks county, who was one of the earliest white visitors within the limits of Huntingdon county having been here in 1748, and whose name occurs frequently in Mr. Lytle's history of the county.

Business Improving.

CHESTER, Pa., Aug. 19.—Business of all kinds here is on the upward jump, the settlement of the tariff question having had a good effect. A number of the mills have been running but four days a week have received orders and are now running on longer hours. The shipyard has $200,000 worth of contracts on hand, and in a short time it is expected that the full quota of men will be employed at this large establishment. The large iron and steel plants, with the exception of the Wellman, are running full time and have orders enough to last them for months to come. There are a number of large building operations under way, and several others about to be started.

Beginning this week, the machine shop of the Harlem & Hollinsworth company will be run night and day, with an increased force.

Fatal Runaway Accident.

Troy, Pa., Aug. 18.—Friday evening as Acy Slingerland, Miss Slingerland, Mrs. Jos. Card, Mrs. Damon Baker and Damon Baker were returning to their homes at Sylvania coming down the steep descent known as Bailey's hill, one tug on their horses became unhitched letting the pole of the wagon fall to the ground. The frightened horses ran down the mountain, when the end of the pole caught in the ground and threw the entire party over the dug road and down a sharp descent, falling a distance of from 50 to 100 feet. Mrs. Jos Card received injuries from which she died yesterday morning. Mrs. Baker, a daughter of Mrs. Card, is lying very low from the injuries received. From the distance they fell it hardly seems probable they could come through alive. The others of the party were severely injured.

A RETIRED BUSINESS WOMAN.

A Page From Her History.

The important experiences of others are interesting. The following is no exception: "I had been troubled with heart disease 25 years, much of that time very seriously. For five years I was treated by one physician continuously. I was in business, but obliged to retire on account of my health. A physician told my friends that I could not live a month. My feet and limbs were badly swollen, and I was indeed in a serious condition when a gentleman directed my attention to Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, and said that his sister, who had been afflicted with heart disease, had been cured by the remedy, and was again a strong, healthy woman. I purchased a bottle of the Heart Cure, and in less than an hour after taking the first dose I could feel a decided improvement in the circulation of my blood. When I had taken three doses I could move my ankles, something I had not done for months, and my limbs had been swollen so long that they seemed almost putrified. Before I had taken one bottle of the New Heart Cure the swelling had all gone down, and I was so much better that I did my own work. On my recommendation six others are taking this valuable remedy."—Mrs. Morgan, 569 W. Harrison St., Chicago, Ill.

"Dr. Miles' New Heart Cure, a discovery of an eminent specialist in heart disease, is sold by all druggists on a positive guarantee, or sent by the Dr. Miles Medical Co., Elkhart, Ind., on receipt of price, $1 per bottle, six bottles for $5, express prepaid. It is positively free from all opiates or dangerous drugs.

CARRIED TO THE TOMB.

The Centre Co. Bar's Tribute to Col. D. S. Keller.

It was just ten minutes past 9 o'clock when Hon. A. O. Furst, as President of the Centre County Bar Association, which had assembled in the court house in memory of the late Col. D. S. Keller, called the association to order, and asked for the report of the committee on resolutions. Gen. Beaver, being absent, C. M. Bower, Esq., read the report, which in full, was as follows:

MINUTE OF THE BAR ASSOCIATION.

Col Daniel Schneck Keller was born at Oak Hall, Centre Co., Pa., September 5, 1844. He was the oldest son of Henry and Margaret Schneck Keller, both deceased, and the third of nine children. The family belonged to the Reformed church in the United States, of which his uncle, Rev. Benjamin S. S. Schneck, D. D., was a distinguished divine. Col. Keller was confirmed as a member of this church when twelve years old by Rev. W. H. Groh, at St. Johns Reformed church in Boalsburg.

His preliminary education was received at the public schools of Harris township and at the Boalsburg Academy. He was fully prepared for the Freshman class in Franklin and Marshall college and was expecting to enter upon his collegiate course in September, 1862. In August of the same year, Col. Robert McFarlane raised a company which was afterwards mustered as Company G, of the 148th regiment, Pa. Vols. In this company the Principal of the Boalsburg Academy, James J. Patterson, who became subsequently Captain of Company G, 148th regiment, and many of the pupils enlisted, among them the subject of this sketch. He was enlisted August 18th, 1862, and, although then less than eighteen years of age, he was soon promoted to a Corporalship, which position he held at the battle of Chancellorsville May 3rd, 1863, when he was severely wounded in the shoulder. The wound was a very severe one and entailed long confinement to the hospital. He was incapacitated by reason of this wound for active service in the field and was transferred to the 112th company, Second batalion of the Veteran Reserve Corps, 15th of February, 1864, and was discharged by general orders August 19th, 1865.

During this term he was detailed for special duty in the office of the Quartermaster General of the Army and developed such facility and accuracy in his work that he was retained in that office and subsequently in the Census Bureau where he became Chief of a Division, until the year 1873. During the time in which he was employed in the public service he studied law and graduated at the Columbian Law School in the District of Columbia.

Being prepared for active practice, he resigned his position in the Census Bureau and came to Bellefonte where, in May, 1873, he opened an office and where he has continuously practiced his profession since,

In 1866 he married Martha E. Heustis, daughter of W. H. Heustis, Esq., of Washington. The fruit of this marriage was two sons, Harry and William Heustis, the former a member of the Centre County Bar and the latter a member of the Lancaster County Bar in this State, and two daughters, Martha E. and Margheretta, the latter of whom died in infancy and the former, after reaching a beautiful young womanhood, was carried away by an attack of malignant diphtheria, at Danville, Pa., whilst on a short visit from home.

After the death of his first wife, in March, 1876, he was inter-married with Miss Martha E. R. Schroeder, daughter of John S. Schroeder, of Reading, Pa., May 8th, 1878. The fruit of this marriage, namely, two sons, Daniel S. Keller, Jr., and John S. Keller, and daughter, Lucy Keller, survive their father, as does also his devoted wife.

His brother, Henry Keller, was a minister in the Reformed church but, becoming disabled upon a mission field by reason of an attack of the insidious disease which finally terminated his life, he returned home, studied law and was, until the time of his death, a member of this bar in full practice. His only remaining brother, B. Frank Keller, is now a member of the bar at Bramwell, West Va. Four sisters also survive him, namely, Mrs. Dr. Rhone, Miss Clara Keller and Miss Sallie Keller, all of whom reside in Centre county, and Mrs. T. C. Hall, of Wilmington, Delaware.

He acquired his military title as Assistant Adjutant General of the Fifth Division of the National Guard of Pennsylvania with the rank of Lieutenant Colonel. He served in this capacity and subsequently as Assistant Adjutant General of the Fifth and Second Brigades of the National Guard of Pennsylvania almost continuously from 1873 until 1887. In these relations as in all others he sustained in life, he was faithful, diligent and conscientious in the discharge of every duty.

As a member of the Bar, his strength was in his conscience and in his ability, by close and searching analysis, to reach the foundation principles of the subject in hand; and, when he reached a conclusion, he was irresistible in following to its legitimate results what he believed to be right. He devoted himself without stint to the interests of his client. Battling with disease, as he was compelled to do for many years, he often taxed himself beyond his physical ability and this told upon him in many ways. As long, however, as he was able to devote time to his profession, he gave it without reserve to his clients. It can be said and said without reserve that in all his relations, personal and professional, he was absolutely honest. In all his relations with Court, Bar and Clients, every transaction would bear the closest scrutiny and the search-light of truth would never in any way impeach or imperil his character.

His personal relations with the members of the Bar were close and peculiar. Whatever of sternness may have appeared in his character was due to his devotion to the interests of his client and this always recognized by the profession, so that the ordinary asperities of professional life were never regarded as personal and no member of the Bar but could call Col. Keller his friend.

In his church relations, which continued from his confirmation in early childhood, he was faithful and fruitful. In his own congregation, he filled the place of Sabbath school superintendent, Deacon and Elder. In the larger interests of the denomination to which he belonged, he contributed from his knowledge and experience to the work of Missions and to the deliberations of its highest legislative and judicial bodies. In these relations he will be sadly missed.

As a citizen he was faithful in the discharge of every duty. He followed his convictions as he followed the flag of his country without wavering and with an eye single to what he felt to be duty. His chairmanship of the committee which had in charge the conduct of the campaign at the time of the submission of the Constitutional Amendment prohibiting the manufacture and sale of intoxicating liquors, in the year 1889, is an illustration of the manner in which he followed his convictions and of the faithfulness with which he met and discharged every duty. As the result of that campaign, which was due very largely to his leadership and to the active work of his associates on the Committee, Centre county gave a majority of some 2,000 in favor of the Prohibitory Amendment,

The closer and more sacred relations of the family cannot be touched upon in this tribute, more than to say that they were characteristic of the man. He was a domestic man. His home life was largely his real life and in the relations of husband and father he exhibited the best traits of his character.

In his death, this community has met a great loss. The members of the Bar will long remember him as the peer of any. Into the inner circle of his home we dare not enter, except to express our tenderest sympathy in the great bereavement which has darkened its portals.

The committee recommend the adoption of this minute and of the following resolutions:

Resolved, That the minute relating to the life and character of Col. Daniel Schneck Keller, which has been reported, be spread at length upon the records of the Court and be published in the newspapers of Centre county and that a copy thereof be furnished to the members of his family.

Resolved, second, That the members of the Bar attend the funeral of our deceased brother in a body; and

Resolved Third, That we tender to his family and friends our sincere sympathy in their bereavement.

JAMES A. BEAVER,
C. M. BOWER,
CLEMENT DALE,
DAVID F. FORTNEY,
JOHN BLANCHARD,
Committee.

At the close of the reading of the above minute, Mr. Bower moved the adoption of the same; and in a brief speech payed a most glowing personal tribute to the life and memory of the deceased. Mr. Bower was followed with brief tributes by D. F. Fortney, Clement Dale, the latter seconding the motion to adopt the committee's minute and resolutions. Following Mr. Dale John G. Love, James P. Coburn and Ellis L. Orvis, Esqs., all of whom spoke touching words of love and admiration for the man whom they had met to honor and to mourn. Before putting the motion for the adoption of the minute Judge Furst remarked that in this life no man was considered perfect, but he could positively say that Col. Keller was perfect in one thing and that was orthography. He never knew him to misspell a word, no matter how difficult it might be. The report of the committee was then adopted and the Association adjourned and proceeded to the house, the late home of the deceased on Linn street.

THE FUNERAL.

The last sad rites were performed at the Reformed church over the remains of the deceased. No services were held at the house, the body being carried from there to the church. The pall bearers were Hon. A. O. Furst, Andrew J. Cook, Jared Harper, C. M. Bower, Esq., Charles P. Hewes, Esq., George M. Boal, Col. George A. Bayard, Col. James P. Coburn, Hon. John B. Linn and F. W. Crider. The floral displays were magnificent and exceedingly appropriate. There was a beautiful design, the offering of the Bar, giving Mr. Keller's age; a cross from the church and an offering from the W. C. T. U.

The services at the church were opened by the reading of a scripture lesson by the pastor, Rev. Miles O. Noll. He was followed by Rev. A. A. Black, of Boalsburg, with scripture reading and prayer. A hymn, which had been selected by the departed, was then sung, after which the funeral sermon was preached by Rev. Noll. Following Rev. Noll brief addresses were made by Dr. Stah, president of the Theological Seminary, at Lancaster, and Rev. J. W. Bowman, of the same place. Rev. Robb, of Altoona, was also present, but as the hour was late, did not speak. From the church the funeral cortege proceeded to the Union cemetery where interment was made, and the last that was mortal of Col. Keller has been given back to mother earth. He lived a life, not for himself alone, but for all with whom he came in contact; he died the death of a christian, an exemplification of the teachings of the Divine Master. May he rest in peace.

Corn Crop's Poor Outlook.

The weather crop bulletin of the Pennsylvania state weather service, under the division of the Franklin institute, for the work ending August 13, says: "The temperature for the week was below the average. The first part was warm, the latter part cool. A few showers occurred, but they were light and badly disturbed. That of the 12th was sufficient for the southeastern section, and will be timely in many localities to save corn and highly beneficial to other growing crops. Reports from other districts are generally discouraging, as the drought has permanently injured most of the crops. Corn cannot now fully recover under any conditions, and much of it has made such slow growth that it will not have time to mature. Tobacco is doing fairly well and some has been cut.

Pasture lands are generally in poor condition, and in some sections there is a scarcity of water for stock. Some fields of oats are not worth cutting and were used for pasturage. Grasshoppers are reported plentiful and destructive along the northern border of the state. The potato crop will be below the average. Plowing for fall seeding continues, but is delayed in some places on account of dryness.

Jail Delivery at Huntingdon.

John Beatty, John Spooneybarger and Robt. DeArmitt, inmates of the jail at Huntingdon, made their escape about half past seven o'clock on Tuesday evening, by climbing the wall. Sheriff Oaks was absent from town, and Beatty, who had charge of the keys, opened the rear door of the jail and helped pile up the tables and a box used in scaling the wall, and took the keys of the cells with him. There were other prisoners in the jail, but they did not avail themselves of the opportunity to escape. There being no keys to lock them in their cells, guards were employed to keep watch over them during the night.

Beatty's term of sentence would have expired to-day, and his conduct in letting the prisoners escape and going with them cannot be accounted for. This makes ten or eleven escapes from the jail in nineteen months.

The New Road Opened.

The Altoona and Philipsburg connecting railroad was opened for freight and passenger traffic between Houtzdale and Philipsburg on Wednesday morning. Passengers were hauled free of charge that day. This road will give an immense soft coal tonnage to the Reading and Beech Creek railroads. Sixteen trains a day will be run between Philipsburg and Houtzdale.

Death of Margaret Cooke.

We are sorry to record the death of Margaret, the two-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. Ed. C. Cooke, of this place, whose death occurred on Friday evening after less than a week illness with that fatal complaint, cholera intantum. The funeral will occur Sunday afternoon at five o'clock.

Married.

SCHLUFFER—SNYDER,—On August 11th, 1894, by Rev. Ed. Everett Hoshour, at his residence 29 East High street, Mr. J. M. Schluffer, of Millheim, and Miss Dollie Snyder, of Spring Mills, Pa.

—Mr. Archie Allison has put down two flag stone walks from the pavement to his new residence on Allegheny street. When his house is finished and the surroundings fully fixed up he will have one of the nicest homes in Bellefonte.

How Nice.

Miss Belle is looking, Addie. Yes, Laura. Why, only a year ago her face was completely covered with pimples, blotches, and sores. She told mother that she owed her nice, clear complexion to her using Sulphur Bitters. Well, Laura, I shall try them too.

EDWARD T. TUTEN.

Local Department.

—The opera season in Bellefonte will open Friday evening, August 31st.

—Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Stover are rejoicing over the arrival of another heir at their home.

—Editor N. S. Bailey has been elected President of the Bellefonte Prohibition League.

—Edward McGuiness is going to start into the tailoring business on his own hook. He will also repair and clean clothes.

—The summer season is pretty well advanced and, in consequence, roasting ear and picnic time will soon be at an end.

—Didn't it rain easy Sunday and Sunday night? The big drops just seemed to come down as if they could not help it.

—There was only one marriage license issued this week, it was that of Robert Corl and Eva Crust, both of Benner township.

—Rev. Robert H. Kline will conduct the services at St. John's Episcopal church next Sunday, August 26th, morning and evening.

—And the band tournament is still growing, giving promise of being one of the largest gatherings that will be at Hecla this year.

—The death of Miss Jennie Dehaas, of Howard, is announced as occurring on Tuesday morning. The young lady was a niece of Alderman Noble, of Lock Haven.

—The new Brockerhoff building will soon be ready to put under roof. It gives promise of being one of the most substantial business blocks in the town, while inside it will be finished and equipped superior to any.

—We are sorry to record the illness of Miss Lizzie Vallance, with pleurisy, at her home on East High street. Although now so ill as to be confined to her bed, it is hoped she may soon recover her usual good health.

—A delegation of nine of Bellefonte's firemen departed on Monday evening for Dubois to attend the firemen's convention in session there to-day. It is expected that fully ten thousand firemen will be in line of parade.

—Large posters for the band tournament at Hecla, the Clinton county soldiers' reunion at the same place, the Veteran Club's picnic at Hunter's park and the Granger's picnic at Grange Park, are conspicuous everywhere.

—The old soldiers are now busy discussing the near approach of the G. A. R. National Encampment at Pittsburg in September. The smoky city will likely harbor such a crowd of old vets as it has never harbored before.

—Harry Keller has moved his family from the Brew residence on Spring street to the Orvis homestead on Linn street; where they will live until they take possession of their own home, the Harper property, on the first of October.

—The report circulated on the streets Saturday night and Sunday that Mr. John P. Levan, of Altoona, had been arrested for the murder of Bank Examiner Miller was without the shadow of foundation. Mr. Levan, by the way, is an uncle of our townsman, Mr. Charles Levan, the tailor, and is known in Bellefonte, he having visited here a number of times.

—The ninth annual reunion of the Western Pennsylvania Canal Boatmen's association will be held at Ridgview Park, on the P, R. R., on Wednesday, August 29, 1894. Eminent speakers will be present to talk over the old canal boatmen's happy days gone by. Bands have been engaged and a parade will be a feature. Every old boatman should attend, as the committee has spared no time or expense to make this a reunion long to be remembered. Excursion tickets may be had by applying to the following for orders: J. C. Campbell, president, Station, Pa.; A. M. Lindsey, corresponding secretary, Derry Station, Pa., or Irvin Rutledge, secretary, Johnstown, Pa.

IN THE BOROUGH COUNCIL.

Considerable Business Transacted in a Brief Time.

Council convened on Monday evening at 7.30 with every member present and president Miller in the chair. Clerk Isaac Mitchell read the minutes of the previous session which were approved as read.

There were no verbal communications presented to council.

A written communication was read from William Shortlidge relative to a borough water pipe running through his property on Thomas street.

The Street committee reported progress in work, and that the Lamb street bridge is in a very bad condition, it not being considered safe for traveling. On the matter of giving the grade on Linn street, from Allegheny to C. M. Bowers' residence, the committee reported progress.

The Water committee reported everything in good shape and the works running fourteen hours. The extra man has been dispensed with. The water contracts have very nearly all been signed. The water committee recommend the laying of a 12-inch pipe from the works to the diamond, to increase the water supply in the northern part of the town.

The Fire and Police committee reported progress in the matter of getting the council chamber building repaired.

The Market committee reported $11.50 market fees collected during the past two weeks.

The Nuisance committee had no report to make, while the Finance committee was ditto.

The Fire companies reported the following elections. Chief Fire Marshall, Frank C. Williams; First Assistant, P. H. Gerrity; Second Assistant, Joseph Beezer.

Clement Dale, Esq., reported that the viewers appointed by the Court had reported in favor of a county bridge across Spring Creek on Lamb street. The report will be brought before the grand jury some time next week for their consideration.

One member of the Nuisance committee reported a number of nuisances on jail hill in the shape of hog pens, and suggested the passage of an ordinance prohibiting the keeping of hogs inside the borough limits.

The elections of the Chief and two assistant Fire Marshalls was confirmed by council.

The Street committee submitted the profile of grade as made by the borough engineer for Linn street with the recommendation that it be adopted. It was adopted.

Regarding the Lamb street bridge, the Street Committee was instructed to temporarily repair the bridge and make it safe for travel for the present.

The recommendation of the Water Committee for the laying of a twelve inch pipe from the Spring to the diamond was taken up for consideration. The laying of this pipe would save a pumping of 216,000 gallons of water per day with the steam pump, and would afford an unlimited supply of water in all parts of the town. The recommendation was unanimously adopted.

In the matter of repairs to the council building, it was decided to request Mr. Humes to make just the necessary repairs needed at present.

Mr. Fortney at this juncture made his appearance and made complaint of the water from Allegheny, Linn and Curtin streets in times of heavy rains, running through the stone school house yard and washing it badly, and asking that something be done to prevent it. The Street Committee was instructed to give the matter their attention.

The matter in the communication of Mr William Shortlidge was referred to the Water committee.

Mr. Brockerhoff asked for 4-inch and a 2-inch pipe connections on Allegheny street at their new building. This matter was also referred to the Water committee.

With the approval of the following bills, council adjourned:

A 112 Mile Trip.

George L. Williams and E. B. Rankin left their home at Bellefonte yesterday morning about 4 o'clock on their bikes for Williamsport. At Mill Hall they were joined by J. B. Rossner and G. C. Snyder. At Lock Haven all took breakfast and after being reinforced by Ed. Dubler and W. C. Dickinson, Jr., resumed their journey, reaching this city in time for dinner. With the exception of Mr. Dickinson, who said he was very tired and did not feel well, all the boys presented a brisk and jovial appearance. To the elegant meal prepared and spread before them at Porter's Central all did justice. After a short rest they started on their return home, making 112 miles in the trip.—Williamsport Journal. The gentlemen arrived home in time for supper.

Want a Hog Ordinance.

Owing to the fact that there, of late, have been so many hog pen nuisances reported to council, that august body of lawmakers are now considering whether it would not be wise to pass an ordinance prohibiting the keeping of hogs inside the borough limits. There is one thing certain there is nothing in the world so much of a nuisance as a hog pen, but it would certainly create a good bit of a stir to prohibit the keeping of this animal inside the borough limits. And then, it might be like the cow ordinance, once passed, be considered a good thing by everybody.

The Care of Milk.

Dr. Lee, Secretary of the State Board of Health says of the dairy and its furnishings: "The milk house should be entirely separate from the dwelling house, No family should live over a milk house, spring house, creamery or buttery. A really good article of butter or cheese cannot be produced in the cellar, kitchen or other room of a dwelling house, unless specially separated from the dwelling apartment, and specially fitted with shelves on which the milk vessels must be placed. This is necessary, because milk so rapidly absorbs the odors of cooking of fruit and other articles of food about our homes, Cement floors are better than those of wood, stone or brick, for this material contains no crevices in which milk can accumulate to decay and make foul the whole building. The milk house should be kept scrupulously clean, inside and out."

How to Rest.

To understand how to rest is of more importance than to know how to work. The latter can be learned easily; the former it takes years to learn, and some people never learn the art of resting. It is simply a change of scenes and activities. Loafing may not be resting. Sleeping is not always resting. Sitting down for days with nothing to do, is not restful. A change is needed to bring into play a different set of faculties, and to turn the life into a new channel. The man who works hard finds his best rest in playing hard. The man who is burdened with care, finds relief in something that is active, yet free from responsibility. Above all, keep good natured, and don't abuse your best friend, the stomach.

The Kind of Towels to Use.

Have plenty of towels. Comfort and cleanliness depend upon it. You can better go without some of your household decorations than to "get along" with a scant supply of towels. Have them of good size. They are more satisfactory and wear longer than the curtailed sort. Shall the towel be fringed? That is a matter of taste. Shall our towels be damask or huckaback? That is also a matter of taste. And it is a matter of complexion. Huckaback and Turkish are desirable for bath use, but face use damask. With that you may rub the skin without producing a battered up feeling, which is certainly not advisable for the complexion. It is well to persistently rub the face, but it is never improved by scouring.

The Methodist University.

America will soon be able to boast of another great national seat of learning in the magnificent Methodist university, the first ground for which will be broken at Washington during the coming fall. With ninety acres of campus overlooking the beautiful Potomac, with $700,000 endowment already secured and $1,000,000 promised by the women of the church, through Mrs. John A. Logan, and with munificently endowed Lincoln, Epworth and Asbury halls in view, the original hope of a $5,000 000 university seems not far from being realized. The 4,600,000 Methodist of the United States support even now 20,000 school and academies and seven universities.—Philadelphia Record.

Death of Lewis Zimmerman.

At an early hour on Monday Mr. Lewis Zimmerman aged about 71 years, and one of the oldest residents of Walker township died at his residence near Hecla, after a long illness with kidney disease, Mr. Zimmerman was a man highly respected and admired by all his neighbors and his death will be universally mourned by every person in that locality. A loving wife and a family of children survive. The funeral occurred on Wednesday morning at 10 o'clock, from the house.

Clinton County's Soldiers' Reunion, at Clintondale Park, Aug. 24.

The Veterans of Clinton county will have a reunion at Clintondale on Friday, August 24th, to which an invitation has been extended the veterans from surrounding counties. Prompt and numerous favorable responses to the committee's invitation indicate a large gathering.

The Central Railroad has agreed to supply their lowest excursion picnic rates from all points to Clintondale and return for this date.

—John Whaler, of Prospect, Butler county, a boy about 14 years of age, was at a circus two or three weeks ago and saw a snake handler in a side show place the head of a pine snake in his mouth. Going home he tried the experiment with an eighteen-inch water snake, but swallowed the reptile, and is now in convulsions and is likely to die, as all efforts to get the snake out of his stomach have failed.

—The Centre County Teachers' Institute this year will be held during the week commencing Monday, December 17th.

WEATHER PROPHECIES.

Foster Says We Will Have a Warm Fall and a Late Winter.

My last bulletin gave forecasts of the storm waves to cross the continent from August 16 to 20 and 22 to 26. The next will reach the Pacific coast about the 26th cross the western mountains by the close of the 27th, the great central valleys from the 28th to the 30th and the eastern states about the 31st.

The disturbance will be of more than usual force and severe local storms may be expected. As this is also an earthquake date, it cannot be determined whether the force will find relief through a great earthquake in some earthquake country or a great storm, or be divided and cause moderate storms and moderate earthquakes.

This disturbance will be at its greatest within the six days, August 28 to September 2, inclusive, probably on September 1. If it reaches its climax on that date its effects will be felt on the Pacific coast and off the Atlantic coast, as the storm waves will be due on those meridians at that time.

Very high tides will occur about these dates. Professor Faib, of Vienna, has, if the papers report him correctly, selected Aug. 16 for the great tidal waves. I would have selected August 29 to September 2, probably September 1, as the date of dangerous tidal waves, and I am of the opinion that the papers wrongly reported his dates.

From 17th to 19th of August will probably develop severe disturbances in various parts of the world and produce high tides, but nothing to equal those from August 28 to September 2.

September will be a very warm month, with no killing frosts, except in the extreme north, where light frosts may occur from the 29th of August in the far northwest to September 3 in the far northeast. During the last days of August and the 1st and 2nd of October, frosts will do some damage in the extreme northern portions of the United States. September will also be a dry month as an average over the United States and Canada. Locally the rainfall will increase in many of the drouth districts, and decrease where rains have been plentiful.

Winter will probably come in late, and a long, warm period of fall weather, with an unusually beautiful Indian summer, may be expected.

Slapped by a Woman.

It does not very often happen that a young man in Bellefonte gets "done up" by one of the fair sex, but that is just what happened to Burt Henderson on Saturday night. The young man was in the barber shop getting "fixed up to kill" and had no intimation of the reception he would receive on coming out. But he was not long kept in ignorance, for hardly had his feet touched the pavement till an irate individual of the weaker sex, about whose daughter, she alleged, Henderson had made some derogatory remarks, pounced upon him and proceeded to slap him in a real pugilistic manner. The little affair soon drew a large crowd and it is unnecessary to say that the sympathies of the crowd were not with the young man, who was fairly well punished. It might just here be in place to remark that there are too many scandal-mongers in and around Bellefonte who are never satisfied unless they can lie about someone and thus endeavor to ruin the character of those who are their peer in every way; and if there were only more such mothers, or what is still better, fathers, brothers or gentleman friends, to resent such calumnies in the same summary manner, it would perhaps serve a better purpose than any criminal action that could be brought through the courts.

Killed His Wife.

Mr. James McAyey, a resident of Tunnel Hill, Cambria county, and a driver in the Mitchell's bank, shot and killed his wife at his residence on Sandusky street, at 4 o'clock on Saturday afternoon. McAvoy has been a man of intemperate habits. He worked till 9 o'clock Saturday morning where he and his brother, Joseph went to his home, where they were drinking beer. James had a revolver and was shooting through the ceiling of the up stairs room, when the brother asked him to desist. A scuffle ensued, when Mrs. McAvoy interfered to assist her brother-in-law to relieve her husband of the revolver. This is the statement of the men.

It is charged that McAvoy fired four times at his wife and her death was almost instantaneous.

Officer Rhodes arrested the brothers and placed them in the Gallitzin lockup, where they remained till Sunday morning when they were removed to the Ebensburg jail to await trial.

Caught in a Steam Thresher.

Wellsboro Gazette A terrible accident occurred at Litchfield, Bradford county, a few days ago, resulting in the horrible mutilation and death of a young man. Nicholas Barr was working with a steam thresher when by some means his sleeves was caught in a shaft that was making about 100 revolutions a minute. He was hurled around the shaft several times, all his clothing was torn off, his right leg was crushed nearly off and the right arm was torn off at the shoulder. The accident occurred at 2 o'clock and the victim lingered in terrible agony until 6 o'clock, when he died. He was 22 years of age and unmarried.

—A very large and bright star in the southeastern quarters of the heavens has been attracting much attention the last few nights and persons who have been out late have noted the splendor of its red light. The body is the planet Mars, which is nearer the earth than it has been for some years, and will approach closer and closer every day until autumn. It rises now about 10 p. m., but as it approaches it will be up earlier.

Used A Carriage Whip.

Lebanon, Aug. 21.—John Halk, residing in the southern part of this county, accompanied by his daughter, Alice, aged 11 called at the office of Alderman Booth today. Mr. Halk made information against Mrs. Addison Martin, wife of a well-to-do farmer, charging her with cruelly beating his daughter Alice two weeks ago. The child, who lived with the Martins' the past year, says she was unmercifully beaten with a carriage whip. Her body is still covered with bruises. She is unable to eat and while at the office of the Justice was obliged to lie down. The reason she did not tell her parents about the punishment she received at the time was because the Martins threatened to send her to the penitentiary. The Martins say the girl fell off and afterwards removed her clothing and ran through a patch of briars. Mrs. Martin furnished bail for court.
